From the Desk of President George Loewenstein

I'm very pleased to announce that we have finally obtained the permits necessary to begin construction of our UCO office building. All of us are happily looking forward to be moving in before the end of this calendar year.

This may be a good time to review the functions of UCO vs. those of WPRF. Many people in our village are still confused when confronted by the initials of the two groups — who does what, for example. First of all, WPRF stands for West Palm Recreation Facilities, and thus all the recreational facilities belong to WPRF, sometimes known as Mark Levy. Representing WPRF is their Vice President, Anita Cruz, whose office is upstairs in the Clubhouse — her office is known as Administrative. The downstairs office as you enter the building is the Ticket Office where you can also sign up for classes.

Replacing Judy Roy there is Jennifer, and Rose's smiling face is front and center, while to your left is Linda. Finally, there is the ID office at the far right end of the hall, manned by Joy and Roni. All of these are WPRF employees who are salaried. The Fitness Center (also known as "Hastings") is also a WPRF facility, as are many of the satellite pools. After the hurricanes of 2004-2005, WPRF quickly got the Fitness Center up and running as well as the satellite pools for which they are responsible.

The confusion arises because these facilities are governed by WPRF in consultation with the Operations Committee of UCO (unpaid volunteers). When unit owners, or their property management companies, pay monthly maintenance fees to WPRF, these funds entitle them to the use of these facilities. Not mentioned above, but included, are the tennis courts and petanque at the Somerset pool area, the bocce and handball courts at the main clubhouse, and the sailboats there.

UCO, on the other hand, is an umbrella organization representing the unit owners in the following areas: (1) Security, (2) Transportation, (3) Investigation, (4) Infrastructure and Beautification, (5) Dissemination of information via the monthly publication of the UCO Reporter and the maintenance of community television channel 63, and (6) Insurance. All UCO officers, reception staff, investigative staff, Reporter staff, and committee chairpersons, as well as their members, are volunteers, with the exception of only four paid employees. With a budget of over five million dollars a year, the fact that we have so many volunteers saves the unit owners a tremendous amount of expense.

It is important to note that UCO can not interfere with, or enforce, the documents of the individual Associations. Upon request, we may act only in an advisory capacity. For example, your building has a problem with a unit owner and comes to UCO for help. We can offer advice, but cannot enforce your building's documents. This responsibility rests upon your Association's Board of Directors. In the same light, our Investigation Committee may provide info about a prospective buyer, but can not tell you "no" or "yes" as to your decision — this is entirely up to your Association's board. □

Insurance Dan Gladstone

Many times in the past, UCO has warned the Associations to remove all kinds of obstacles from the common areas. A few chose to disregard these warnings. We also pointed out the fact that works done on the common places could result in injuries.

In one apartment, a handyman was doing a job for the unit owner privately. For some reason, the handyman decided to use the electric socket of the laundry room and pull his electric cord, a few yards long, to the place that he worked on.

A neighbor that was passing by did not notice the cable on the floor and tripped over it. This woman sustained injuries all over her body and approached the owner of the apartment where the handyman was working with her medical bills. The homeowner's insurance company referred the injured person to the Association, claiming that the injury happened on common ground.

The fact is that the Association did not know about the use of the common area and certainly did not give permission. In spite of all this, the Association may be found liable. So please, remove all the beautiful planters, the empty chairs, the door mats, etc. Be sure that the pavements and catwalks are smooth and not slippery.

At the Delegate
Assembly
Betty Lapidus

May 2, 2008

In the absence of Betty Lapidus, these minutes were taken by Mary Patrick Benton.

The meeting was chaired by Vice President Phyllis Richland. According to the UCO Bylaws, this was the first meeting for the summer months where 117 Delegates are needed for a quorum. There were 179 Delegates in attendance today. The first ten rows across the theater were reserved for Delegates only.

Capt. Chris Callaway led the Pledge of Allegiance. We had two larcenies and two vehicle break-ins in the Village in April. The Sheriff’s Department is watching the golf course very carefully for trespassers.

A budget meeting to plan the 2009 budget for your condos has been scheduled for September 17 at 10:00 a.m. in Classroom C. Additional $50,000 insurance money for Ordinance of Law (bringing items up to code in building 2102) is coming to UCO.

New appointments to the Executive Board are George Franklin, Carole Szepesi, Al McLaughlin, Evelyn Leibowitz, and Claudette LaBonte. Jackie Karlan has been appointed Chair of the “One Vote” Committee.

The building permit for 2102 has been granted and a Groundbreaking Ceremony was held yesterday, May 1. Check Channel 63 for pictures.

CERT Chair Marcia Ziccardy announced that there will be a new class beginning May 6.

Al McLaughlin, Security Chair, reported that many traffic tickets were issued for right turn on red at the Haverhill Gate. Century Village maps are available for visitors at each gate. New license tags need to be registered at the UCO office. There is no fee for upgrading this information.

Larry Kall, Cable Committee Chair, was informed by Comcast that the transition will have no impact on Century Village when broadcasting goes digital.

Insurance Chair Dan Gladstone reminded Associations to ask their maintenance companies to supply copies of their insurance policies showing that the Association is listed as co-insured. Mitigation reports that were distributed today should be kept on file by all Associations. Remember, no obstacles should be placed on the catwalks because this may lead to lawsuits affecting your Association.

Dot Loewenstein reported that the Transportation Committee is taking an in-depth look at bus services and ridership. Suggestions should be placed in the box in the Clubhouse or at UCO. May 13 is the deadline.

Jerry Karpf, Maintenance Committee Chair, announced that the next meeting of his committee will be May 20 in Room C at 10:00 a.m.

George Franklin, Safety Committee Chair, asked that all suggestions be given in writing and signed with names and addresses to the UCO office. The Safety Committee will present a Town Meeting on Monday, May 19, in Room C at 10:00 a.m. Presentations on various safety and personal safety issues, including first aid, fire safety, hazardous materials in the home, personal safety protection and much more will be addressed. Everyone is invited.

Old business: There was a short discussion reiterating the settlement with WPRF in response to a question from the floor. Copies of the settlement are available in the UCO office.

New business: Motion by Dorothy Riggio (Northampton A) moved that UCO institute an annual family gate pass at $13 per year per person. Rhea Cohen (Golf’s Edge) seconded the motion. Discussion: This would be limited to six (6) passes per unit. A receipt will be given; however, there will be no refunds. No physical passes will be issued as all information will be in the computer. Motion carried. □

At the UCO office, we maintain a Vendor file. Information form is printed (below) and anyone is encouraged to complete one for the file or come to the UCO office to look at the forms that have been submitted.

The purpose of this file is merely to allow residents to research those vendors who have been doing business in the Village — UCO does not endorse or recommend any particular vendor.

Also — remember that is important for vendors to be licensed and insured.

Cable
Larry Kall

For several months I have been trying to get accurate information relative to the digital TV transition that is scheduled for February 12, 2009 and how this might affect our Village and our cable contract with Comcast.

The first thing that I discovered was that Comcast was doing a lousy job of informing, not only their customers, but their local employees as well. After discussions with local sources, it became evident to me that decisions were going to be made at the corporate level, not necessarily at local level.

I was fortunate enough to be able to talk with someone from the Comcast Corporate in Philadelphia and we both agreed that Comcast had to do a better job of communicating with their customers.

Also during this time period, various residents questioned me about what was going on, and each time, I told them what I knew at the time, along with some possible scenarios and solutions. I got the feeling that some people did not like the manner in which I was handling the situation.

However, my business sense told me that I was doing the job properly and that I would in time get the proper answers from Comcast.

In fact, I received a phone call from the Cable Chair for Phase Two, an 800-unit development in Golden Lakes looking for information. When I asked him how he got my name, he stated that Comcast suggested he call me, as I spent a lot of time on the matter and had the most knowledge on the subject to date.

Well, the time is here, and it was pretty much what I had anticipated and hoped for. Therefore, below is the exact fax that I received from Comcast on April 29, 2008, that explains what they plan to do and what it means for us and the Village. This letter was read to the Delegate Assembly on Friday, May 2, 2008. □

The lazy days of summer will soon be upon us and I hope you all enjoy the longer daylight hours. I know many of you will take advantage of swimming at our pools in the cooler evening hours before sundown, and I hope while at the pools, you will take note of the new Pool Rules Signs recently posted at each pool. Please take a moment to review the new signage since the information has changed from the previous sign wording.

One important item on each pool sign is “No food, drink, glass or animals in pool or on pool deck” and our security officers are now enforcing this rule. I understand the ban on food and drink was relaxed during the aftermath of the hurricanes a few years ago, but now that the Clubhouse is open and our Party Room is available for groups to gather with food and drink, this pool regulation will once again be enforced. Keep in mind that water fountains are located at all pools. Exceptions to the food and drink rule will be made for established groups and associations who request one of our pools for a scheduled event and who sign a reservation request form agreeing to be responsible for cleanup when the event is over. These forms are available from Jennifer in the Staff/Ticket Office.

During the off-season summer months (from April through October), our theater shows are limited to Saturday nights, with an occasional midweek show. Please pick up a monthly flyer from our Staff/Ticket Office and check out the shows planned for this summer. There are some really good offerings you can take advantage of, and please remember, we offer non-reserved seating during the off-season for your convenience, especially if you decide at the last minute to see a show.

If you are interested in participating in our advance season ticket program for next season's shows, please stop by the Staff/Ticket Office for a mail-out application. The deadline for completing and submitting an application for the advance season program to be mailed to you is July 15. If you choose not to have a program brochure mailed to you, the date when you can pick up a brochure will be announced and advertised.

And the next time you are in the Staff/Ticket Office, you should also look over the many classes being offered. Jennifer has a fun-filled and action-packed summer planned for you, with some newly-added classes being offered. Please look for her monthly flyers with dates and information for you.

We have completed all scheduled building-by-building ID revalidations. If you still have an old red ID card, please be sure to stop by the ID office as soon as possible to see Joy or Roni, who will be happy to replace your red ID card with our new white photo ID card. If you still have a red ID card, security will issue a warning to you until June 1, at which time, security officers will begin to confiscate all red cards as they are presented.

As always, feel free to call or stop by to see me any time with your questions, comments or concerns. Be well, and have a healthy and safe summer. □

NOTES/COMMENTS:
Mr. Kall,

The following information comes directly from the Website for Comcast employees.

Under the FCC's mandate for broadcast digital transition, television broadcasters must switch from transmitting their signals in analog to digital no later than February 17, 2009, when that spectrum will be returned to the federal government. Portions of the spectrum will be used by emergency response providers while some will be auctioned off for use by other technologies.

The good news is this transition should have no impact whatsoever on Comcast customers. Because they are connected to cable, all of our customers will continue to receive broadcast channels without interruption after the digital broadcast transition. They will be able to receive the new digital signals through new digital-ready TVs or boxes purchased in retail stores or through their existing digital set-top converter. We will deliver broadcast signals digitally and we will convert the new broadcast digital signals back into analog signals at our headends so that customers who do not have or want a digital box or new TV will continue to receive the channels in the same way they receive them today without having to do anything.

As always, if you should have any questions, please feel free to contact me.

Term Limit Why?
Term Limit Why? When a company has great CEO's they pay him millions and give all kind of perks to keep him. I am now elected for the next two years and I will try to do the best job I can. But I think of the "Next Year." What will happen when we lose two great Vice Presidents? I know they have been in office for five years, and have done a super great job in every way with no pay. I know we changed our by-laws three years ago to make sure that there will always be two Vice Presidents who do not require running for office at election time. We should pass a new bylaw so there is "No Term Limit." When we have good officers, why should we lose them; when I was reelected, they gave me a raise of "$000,000,000," thanks Ha Ha. We have a super team of four great Vice Presidents now, why change them? You could not replace them, because they do know their job in every way. Who could replace two Vice Presidents with five years experience?, March, if you are not happy with our UCO officers, you always have the "Vote." In the next months ahead I will be talking about changing our bylaws. Why lose good people? As you know I do "Channel 63," and we are changing the schedule in the way you view it. Now the time will be shortened so when you watch Channel 63, on "Even Hours 2, 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12" you will be seeing "Organizations and Clubs." And on "Odd Hours 1, 3, 5, 7, 9 and 11" you will be seeing "Announcements and Classes." The first five minutes contain "UCO Announcements" each hour on the hour. □

My first month on "The Job" was most educational. From the Operations Committee Meetings, the Officers' Meeting, Programs & Services, Safety, Security, Transportation, and last but not least, Investigations, in which each and every report, both credit and criminal, are reviewed by either David Frankel, Louise Gerson, or Charlie Schecter, their findings passed on to me, before contacting the designated Officer of the Association for completion. For those Villagers not familiar with the function of the Programs & Services Committee, I would like to give you an overall view. They are responsible for maintaining both the Clubhouse and Hastings Fitness

Center, as well as the pools throughout. Walkthroughs are conducted, to see where improvements can be made, power washing, painting, refurbishing, etc. Currently, Hastings is under consideration for an "update." We will keep you posted. On to another subject, transportation, particularly the companies hired by the Presidents or Trip Coordinators, of the various "clubs" here in the Village. If you could provide me with the company name and costs associated with the trips, you could have, or will have, we can approach our current transport company, to see if they can or will do better for the Villagers they now serve on a daily basis. As always, I can be reached during UCO business hours. □

Safety

George Franklin

This month, we will discuss safe driving in bad weather.

How many of us have found ourselves in situations that occur suddenly when weather changes? In South Florida, this can range from a sudden downpour of rain, hail or other problematic weather conditions.

Now, do you know that after a long dry spell, oils and dirt embedded in the roadway will be brought up top by rain causing a more dangerous driving condition?

What happens, and mostly with asphalt roadways, is that they can turn into a very slippery surface. A false sense of security sometimes occurs because the speed limit sign says 50 MPH. Actually, what needs to be done, as soon as bad weather comes upon you, is drop your speed to adjust to the weather and road condition. In other words, slow down! Don't worry about the guy behind you. Drive accordingly.

Now, back to the original subject of the oil. The asphalt is made with oil, and as we all know, oil is used for lubricating. And lube the roadway it does! Now, driving too fast for conditions in the rain causes you to hydroplane...which is described as your vehicle actually riding on top of the water. There is no contact of the tires to the roadway. This is a very dangerous condition, as you have no control of the vehicle. This can cause a loss of control of the vehicle, and that can cause a crash. The other end of this is that if you are involved in a crash and it is police investigated, you may be charged and ticketed for "careless driving," defined as driving too fast for road and weather conditions.

Another safety tip: If caught in a sudden downpour, and as we know, some are very heavy, you feel that you cannot negotiate the roadway, safely pull off the road at the nearest overpass or shopping area and wait out the storm.

Hail can be very dangerous, as it sometimes can be mixed with rain. This causes two problems: One as described above, and the other, depending on the size of the hailstones, can cause a lot of damage to your vehicle. Do not park under a tree. Falling stones may break branches loose. Hail storms do not last very long in most cases. Wait it out safely.

What to do if your vehicle starts to skid in the rain: Do not panic and jam on the brakes. Take your foot off the gas pedal and steer the car in the direction of the skid. Slowly and gently apply the brakes. This should put you back in control of your vehicle.

We hope that these safety tips will help you in your daily drives. If anyone would like to send in any safety suggestions to the committee, we will be glad to review them and possibly have them printed in the UCO Reporter with proper credit given to the writer. Please have these suggestions written up, and you may leave them in the Safety Folder, located in the UCO Office. Until next time, be safe out there!

Just Shoe It

Caroline loved shoes. As a fashion reporter for the Bulletin-Gazette, one of the perks is getting free samples from designers, including shoes.

Her next assignment took her to Lexington, Kentucky. The Spanish designer Zapato was bringing out his new fall collection and she wanted to stock her closet with some of his wares.

Unfortunately, she took a wrong turn and wound up at the Kentucky Derby. Poor Caroline missed the show and had to console herself by taking home some horseshoes.

Beware

When you call your utilities insurance company to make a repair, make sure you are insured for this item. A drip from my bathroom was not insured and I was overcharged for the part and labor.

I found out that I could have had this fixed for half the cost by another plumber. I hope you will remember this and my bad experience with the utility company. It could save you money.

CERT

Community Emergency Response Team

By Phyllis Siegelman

Hurricane season will soon be upon us. It will be up to each individual unit owner to make sure he or she are fully prepared in case a storm should hit us. Shortly there will be plenty of articles and informational material being handed out in supermarkets.

Last year, door hangers were distributed to each building. If there should be a hurricane, the door hanger placed outside on your door and taped to the door will alert first responders that unit or units need help. If you are OK and need no help, please tape the other side of the door hanger so that the first responders know that also.

We would like to see those who have been certified in CERT at the meetings. If you have new phone numbers (cell and land lines), please notify Marcia Ziccardy of your new numbers. She can be reached at 8:00 in the morning or in the evening. If you cannot reach her at those times, please leave a message. Marcia's phone number is 640-4258.

We are in need of supplies. Donations of blankets, usable luggage on wheels, latex gloves, rolls of bandages, etc. All will be appreciated. CERT members must purchase their own supplies.

A new CERT class started May 6. If you have missed any of these classes, do come to the next class. Missed classes can be made up at the end of the course. For more information,

Suns burning my lips still touched by fire what is precious is never to forget Never to deny the pleasure of the morning's simple light
Never to allow to smother

For much of my madness I try to retain — whatever's

Infused with fitful and reason to a fine madness.

Oh, Say Can You Sing?

The web site Fark.com has surveyed its users to suggest a possible replacement for Florida's state song (currently Swanee River). Their choices:

- SpinStopper: Bang the Drum All Day by Todd Rundgren.
- Man on a Mission: Please God, just don't make it a Jimmy Buffett song.
- superdolfan1: Let's see, the state bird is the Mockingbird, the state flower is the orange blossom, the state motto in South Florida is "I Love NY," so the song can only be...New York, New York by the chairman of the board.
- Generation_D: How about using the theme to the 70s hit The Gong Show? Florida reminds me of something run by Chuck Barris most of the time.
- tlhein: Rock You Like a Hurricane (one of the Scorpions' greatest hits).
- hillary: Taxman by the Beatles. Whole state is in tax revolt.
- Colombican305: We Are the Champions by Queen. Florida Rules. Go Heat, Dolphins, Marlins.

In April, we still had a lot of traffic at the entry gates. The visitors gate had 15,490 vehicles entering. There were 436 people not called in. They were denied entry until they were called in. The owners gate (transponder) was broken off several times by cars that did not wait until the gate was fully opened before they drove through. The summer will have less traffic.

We plan to have a “Family (or Friend) Only” gate pass that will last for one year from the date of purchase. This pass will be allowed for a total of six passes per phone number and will only be allowed to be canceled once with no refund. A new pass would have to be purchased to be restored. The annual pass is not available for workers or employees. The one year pass will be in the computer and will be checked when the visitor shows their picture ID at the gate.

We don’t plan to issue a paper pass. This will allow us to remove a name from the list of any person that is no longer qualified. A receipt for the cash payment will be given to the buyer but that will not be accepted as a “gate pass”. The cost of this pass will be equal to four 90 day paper passes. $13 is the total of 4 x 90 days at $3.25 per pass.

The Palm Beach Sheriff’s Office told us of increased ticketing for speeding, failing to make proper full stops, in the Village, and making a right turn on red at the Haverhill gate.

There are two types of patrol cars at work here in the Village: First one is C.O.P.S., they drive the white car with green marking (Sheriff). They are our neighbors that volunteer to drive and observe here in the Village. They report directly to the Sheriff’s Officers by radio or phone in case help is needed. The other patrol cars are white with blue markings (U.S. Security). These cars belong to U.S. Security Associates. They work for UCO under a contract to provide us with: (1) Access Gate control, (2) Moderate Mediation (within the Village) and (3) Welfare Checks of residents that have not responded to family calls or by a neighbor request. W.P.R.F. also has a contract with U.S. Security for (1) Access Control at the Club House and Health Club and (2) at the W.P.R.F. Pools.

A new map of the Village will be at the gate house for our visitors. We hope that this will make it easier for visitors to find our homes when they arrive for the first time.

We ask everyone to notify the UCO Transponder Committee of any new car tags you get on your car. When you enter the gate, the computer shows your original license plate number and make of the car at the time you got the transponder. This information may cause the guard to believe that the transponder has been placed in a non-owned car which should not be entering through that owners gate. There is no charge for changing registration changes, so please, update your file at UCO.

Finally, we have been complimented on the safety and security of our Village by the PBSO.

Thank you for watching out for each other and reporting when you see things that do not seem correct. Remember, if you see an accident or a crime, call 911 first. □

Volunteers! We have 27 at the library who dedicate an hour, once or twice a month, and several others who drop in almost daily and put in a few minutes at a time.

Now that summer is upon us, volunteers are entitled to a vacation. If you would like to give these wonderful people some time off, please leave your phone number with Noreen or Marge in the Administration Office across the hall from the library. They’ll give me the list of names and I’ll follow up with a quick learning session for you.

Newcomers, please note: We encourage readers to replace books instead of returning them — this provides a nice turnover and new inventory on a regular basis. Anything you donate should be left on one of the front tables for our volunteers to shelve. You will note how cheerful the library appears, mainly because the books are in good condition and have their original dust jackets which reflect the light. Books without dust jackets actually absorb light and make the place look drab and dull — this is why those items end up outside the room. They are still worthwhile books, and should be taken, but please do not bring them back into the Most of you have new Board Members and many of them have gone up North for the summer. Did they leave the checkbook and seal with someone in the Association to conduct business? Sales, rentals, deed transfers and occupancies still happen in our Land of Paradise.

Who is going to be responsible? Each and every one of us owners own a part of the building we live in, so, yes, each and every one is responsible for what goes on in our Associations. Please take responsibility. Otherwise, everything has to be mailed up North for signatures and then sent back here by the President of the building.

Please make it easier for new people to move into your building. Would you like to get the “runaround” given by some Associations by not having anyone responsible to do things? Stop pretending you live in the back and know from nothing.

If you have any questions, please come into our office instead of calling us on the phone. Most times, we are helping people that did come into the office and it is not fair to take the time away from them. Also, to assure privacy and confidentiality, we will not give out any information over the phone. Please come to our office with identification so we know who we are speaking with.

Contracts must be legible so that we can read the names and all information on them.

If there is a Power of Attorney or Representative handling the transaction, we must see proof that this person has the authority to do so.

The application is for the person who paid $100. You can’t copy and use the application again for someone else!

We have a very helpful team in Investigations. Many thanks to Charlie, Henri, Jack, Nora, Abe and Sandy. □

Profile of a Malcontent

According to the Webster's Second New College Dictionary, a malcontent is discontented with existing circumstances, a very discontented person. This person has many faces. You will find not one particular gender and he or she may be young, old, ill, healthy, but the common thread is the sole purpose to catch a mistake or a perceived mistake.

Most of the time, a malcontent doesn't have all the facts and fills in the blanks as he or she imagines them to be, usually by hearing gossip or half truths. Most of this information comes from pools or buses.

What a malcontent likes to do is threaten lawsuits or start misinformation campaigns, specifically having to do with financial records, conspiracies, etc. These people love to see others unhappy or frightened and uncomfortable. This is a form of control which is strange.

So, having said all this, what do we do? First and most important is to ignore this person or group of people. Don't lower yourself to their level. These folks are expert in what they do. They have many years of experience.

If you or your Association feel you are being harassed by an individual or group, there are laws in place to control this behavior. It is your right or your Association's right to seek legal advice.

Whatever you do, make sure you follow your bylaws to the letter. Don't give the malcontent any ammunition. Keep all your meetings open, according to the Sunshine Law. Every owner in your Association is entitled to see your books, your bills, your contracts, etc. They also have the right to speak at your meetings. The only exception to this is a meeting about legal matters with the Association.

Malcontents do not have the right to scream and yell or disrupt a meeting in any way. The Chair has the right to eject such a person displaying this type of behavior. If the malcontent cannot be controlled, it is the right of the Board to seek the help of law enforcement.

Make sure your Secretary keeps impeccable minutes of all meetings. They should contain only the bare facts of the meeting and all motions made, seconded and what the results of that vote were. Often the malcontent seeks to find fodder for their accusations in the written record.

So, keep your cool. Don't get caught up in trying to react or respond to the malcontent. It will not work. Remember, they are expert, they love to annoy. Just like a mosquito buzzing around, get rid of it with the proper solution.

Finally, it is good to be angry or hurt when a malcontent attacks. Anger is good. It is what makes you strong. Those that have no anger at injustice are weak. They are the ones that ultimately fail. □

Insurance

Also, do not forget to ask your maintenance company for their yearly proof of insurance and be sure that your Association is named as a co-insured.

This month, UCO took the initiative to "wake-up" the private homeowners policy holders. Although it is not in the scope of work that UCO does, we hereunder give you an explanation how to go about reducing your apartment insurance premium using the Mitigation Reports.

The Board of Directors should keep in its file, for future reference, the copy of the 2006 Mitigation Report by Citizens and the roof inspection of 2007. These will help in future insurance claims.

This article is for information only and not to be used in any legal matter.

All About Mitigation Reports

This is the answer for you to provide to the Unit Owners and Associations:

The form attached — OIR-B1-1802 — is the only form that can be used for individual unit owners to provide Mitigation Information to their carriers.

In the past, if a unit owner was purchasing cover through Citizens for their individual unit, Citizens would accept the MIT-5 form (the existing commercial form for the association structure), however, our Plastridge Agency just received word from Citizens that they will be using the above form from this point forward as well. This form considers the roof information and shutter information.

The OIR-B1-1802 must be completed "individually" for each unit owner, by a licensed inspector, and paid for by the unit owner.

This is due to the individual situations regarding shutters. Some unit owners may have hurricane impact windows, accordion shutters, aluminum shutters, plywood shutters or no shutters at all.

Don Meyler Inspections (the company that did the Associations' reports) will offer to our Century Village-WPB unit owners for $75 each — as long as at least 10 unit owners schedule an inspection at the same time. If less than 10 at one time, the inspections cost $125 each.

Don Meyler's phone number is 800-469-0434. They work Monday-Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. and Saturday from 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Don Foster of SDS Construction can do Mitigation Inspections for $25 per apartment. Their phone number is 786-488-5320. The reason for individual inspection is the need for the description of the shutters in each unit.

In the past, as Plastridge has advised, they had provided the old MIT-5 forms to some of the unit owners and Plastridge had not heard any negative feedback, when providing the copies of all Wind Mitigation Forms — MIT-5 to UCO Office. Things have changed after July 2007, when the new Universal Form was introduced.

We have the name of other inspection firms that we can provide. We do not endorse any of them, but believe they are all licensed and acceptable inspectors. Let me know if you wish these names. Each unit can look for his own licensed inspectors.

We strongly suggest that you check with your Homeowners' Insurance Company what percentage of reduction you get to justify the cost of the new report. Be advised that the reduction will carry to the renewals of future premiums. □

This & That
Dr. Marilyn
Ducati

I resent people calling this place “Cemetery Village”; they obviously have not gone to our Saturday night dances where the floor looks busy with dances “cutting a rug” and with the vitality of teenagers.

For some of us who are more cerebral and may miss the companionship of a partner (as I do), there is our club room’s bookstore, which is pretty well stocked with classics and “beach books.”

Also, Mike and I are trying to get a conversation group going on Monday afternoons in our Clubhouse that is a bit more informal than “The Mind Spa” was.

We’ll name it after my column “This & That.” For more info, call Michael Cohen at 707-5299 (cell) or Dr. Marilyn Ducati at 687-3935.

Also for you flower lovers: Do you “wake up and smell the roses”? My friend Judy Lucas drove me over to the Mount Botanical Garden Hibiscus and Plant Show; I am the happy owner of a lovely rambling rose plant.

Last word: My “This & That” group meets every Monday at 2:00 (starting 5/9/08) in Classroom A; hope to see you there.

Why It’s Important I Win First Prize

When I was young I killed my teacher,
She had to go that fearsome creature
They said I caused her heartache and strife,
I thought they should thank me for taking her life.
My parents were next on my murderous list
They were boring and loveless and no one you’d miss
They fed me and clothed me throughout my short day
Ha! They couldn’t fool me, they wished me away
Some cultures when people get old there’s a pyre,
It’s simpler to just set their houses on fire,
As you know my poets friends I’ve thoughts of you
If by any chance I don’t win first prize
Allow my kindness to relieve your tension
I will settle (if must be) with honorable mention. □

I concluded my last article promising to provide some information regarding the Senior Conference, sponsored by the Dori Slosberg Foundation. There was an overwhelming turnout with most tables in the Party Room full. Former Representative Irv Slosberg, CEO of the Foundation, explained how it came to being after losing one of his twin daughters in an auto accident.

The speakers represented the State Attorney's Office, Traffic Commander of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office, Florida Highway Patrol, Florida Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles, Palm Tran Connection, Transportation Security Office from the Department of Homeland Security and Regional Coordinator for Operation Lifesaver.

The presentation was precise and informative and concluded with a delightful light lunch.

During the summer months, the Transportation Committee will be looking at rider usage and doing time studies on the buses. If you have any transportation ideas, please go to the UCO Office and complete our transportation form and leave it for our review. We are looking forward to your suggestions. Remember, fuel is always an item to consider when reviewing routes as well as time schedules. These are two of the factors which will be used in analyzing your suggestions.

In the meantime, I want to thank members who took on special projects: Claire Schneider, for coordinating the Glick's run; Nada Tauber, for her efforts on behalf of the Monday Blue Link, which is a specially funded Palm Tran project; and our mystery "Mr. S," for providing the information on the $5 Deal Store (formerly 99¢ Stuff). Also, Dot Loewenstein, who has made our Excursion Trips so successful.

Remember, ideas welcomed.

The driver of the month is Fred Rodney. □

U.S. Department of Hospitals and Human Services

New federal survey rated: Good Samaritan Medical Center tops in seven categories in Palm Beach County. Majority of those surveyed would definitely recommend Good Samaritan.

West Palm Beach, FL — April 14, 2008 — The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' new patient survey on South Florida hospitals made the front page of the Sun-Sentinel on Sunday, April 13, 2008. This story was written by staff writer, Bob LaMendola. The article listed the survey results from the period of October 2006 through June 2007. This survey was answered by 300 patients per hospital. The following are some of the results listed in this informative news article.

Mr. LaMendola stated that, "There were clear winners and losers." One of the winners was Good Samaritan Medical Center, West Palm Beach. The hospital rated tops in seven categories that ranged from the treatment of patients by the medical staff, cleanliness, quality patient care and patient pain control to patients recommending the hospital to others. Seventy-one percent of those surveyed stated that they would definitely recommend the hospital. Two-thirds of patients surveyed give the hospital a rating of nine or ten, with ten being the highest rating. Good Samaritan Medical Center exceeded the national and South Florida average in three of the most important categories.

Good Samaritan's chief operations officer, Mary Bazzicalupo, said that she credited the good ratings to "the focused efforts of our caregivers for every patient each and every day."

After receiving the good news, newly appointed CEO of Good Samaritan Medical Center, Mark Nosacka, said, "Our goal is to continue to provide top quality care to patients throughout the Palm Beach area by supporting our devoted and experienced medical staff in their quest to deliver the highest quality of medical care. We will strive to serve our patients with dignity and compassion."

Good Samaritan is one of three Tenet hospitals in Palm Beach County honored with nine United Premium® Specialty Center designations for 2007 to 2009. The Palm Beach Health Network is comprised of Good Samaritan Medical Center, Delray Medical Center, Pinecrest Rehabilitation Hospital, St. Mary's Medical Center, West Boca Medical Center and Palm Beach Gardens Medical Center. The Miami-Dade/Broward Health Network includes Coral Gables Hospital, Florida Medical Center, Hialeah Hospital, North Shore Medical Center and Palmetto General Hospital. Tenet's hospitals aim to provide the best possible care to every patient who comes through their doors, with a clear focus on quality and service. Tenet can be found on the World Wide Web at www.tenethealth.com. □

The Little Mermaid's Big Problem

The Little Mermaid envied people from the surface world and wanted to live their life. She found a great sea sorcerer that was willing to grant her request.

Two days later, the Mermaid, in scuba gear, sought out the sea sorcerer to change her back. "I don't mind walking around in legs, but those high heel shoes are murder!"

Basic Disaster Supply Kit

Everyone needs to prepare for emergency situations, but shopping can be expensive and strenuous. Shopping for items a little at a time before an event can reduce the stress of recovery by avoiding long lines and empty shelves.

Food:

- 1 gallon of water* per person per day for at least 5 days, for drinking and sanitation
 - Sandwich bread (freeze until needed)
 - 2 cans of ready to eat soup
 - 1 box of crackers and/or granola bars
 - Dry cereal/Pop Tarts
 - 4 cans of fruit (2-4 pack)
 - 5 cans of meat (tuna, chicken, Vienna sausages, corn beef hash)
 - 4 cans of vegetables (beans, baked beans, corn, peas)
 - 1 jar of jelly or jam
 - 1 jar of peanut butter
 - 1 large can of juice (4 pack)
 - Instant coffee/tea/powdered drinks
 - Powdered or boxed milk
- * If you choose to use your own storage containers, choose two-liter plastic soft drink bottles — not plastic jugs or cardboard containers that have had milk or juice in them.

Sanitize the bottles by adding a solution of one teaspoon of non-scented liquid chlorine bleach to a quart of water. Swish the sanitizing solution in the bottle so that it touches all surfaces. After sanitizing the bottle, thoroughly rinse out the sanitizing solution with clean water.

Fill the bottle to the top with regular tap water. If needed, add two drops of non-scented bleach to the water. Tightly close the container with the original cap. Be careful not to contaminate the cap by touching the inside with your fingers. Place a date on the outside of the bottle — replace every six months.

Storage:

- Large plastic zip-lock bags
- Plastic wrap
- Aluminum foil
- Assorted plastic containers with lids
- Heavy duty garbage bags
- Waterproof portable container with lid (to store disaster supplies)

Other Supplies:

- Paper plates
- Plastic or paper cups
- Plastic eating utensils
- Tissues
- 2 rolls of paper towels
- 4 rolls of toilet paper

- Liquid dish soap
- Mosquito repellent
- Sunscreen
- Matches/lighter
- 2 pairs of latex gloves
- Broom, mop and bucket
- Unscented liquid bleach

Health:

- 1 bottle of shampoo
- 1 box hand sanitizer wipes
- 1 tube of toothpaste
- Deodorant
- Extra supply of prescriptions
- Oxygen
- Contact lens solution
- Extra pair of glasses
- Extra hearing aid batteries
- Items for denture care

First Aid:

- Antiseptic
- Anti-diarrhea medicine
- Aspirin and/or acetaminophen
- Adult vitamins (if needed)
- Hydrogen peroxide
- Band-Aids (assorted sizes)
- Roll of gauze or bandages
- First aid tape
- Petroleum jelly
- Rubbing alcohol
- Tweezers

Your Property:

Before hurricane season, make a complete inventory of your valuables and personal property. Take a photo inventory and mail a copy to your out-of-town contact. This will be very important should you need to make an insurance claim.

Be sure you put all your important papers together in a waterproof bag or plastic container: Photocopies of credit cards, insurance and Social Security cards. Don't forget your insurance properties and other documents, such as birth and marriage certificates, three years of your IRS returns, mortgage, and wills, to name a few.

Other Disaster Supplies:

- Battery powered lantern
- Battery powered radio
- Flashlight(s)
- Extra batteries (correct sizes)
- Extra flashlight bulbs
- Portable camp stove or grill — do not use inside
- Fuel for stove and grill
- Video or disposable camera
- Fire extinguisher — know where it is in your building
- Extra change of clothes

Special Needs Shelter:

The county special needs shelter only accepts residents with a physical condition requiring medical or nursing care.

- Need nursing assistance with medications or medi-

- cal care assistance
 - Monitoring vital signs or medical condition or activities of daily living, but do not require hospitalization
 - Need constant electrical power for medical equipment
- Pre-registration is required for individuals needing to use the special needs shelter.

Have Patience

Damage after a hurricane is unpredictable. It can take several days — this is why you need supplies for at least five days, preferable to have 7-10 days of supplies. In some cases, it can take several days to restore power, phone, water and cable television. You should have a landline phone — cell and portable phones may not work.

Prepare. Plan ahead. Ask your neighbor from upstairs to join you and keep you company. Don't forget your out-of-state contact. □

Hot Water Tanks

Several times per week, we get calls asking, “How can we tell if our hot water tank is going to leak?” The answer is generally — there is no way to tell. There are tanks in the Village over thirty years old that look almost brand new when you look at them. There are relatively new tanks that have rust marks all over them, but do not leak.

Many tanks begin to leak from the inside first, so that outward appearances can be deceiving. However, as a general rule, the newer the tank, the less likely it will leak.

Another question is “How can I find out how old my tank is?” That is not easy to do. Some manufacturers can give you the date the tank was manufactured if you can give them the model and serial number on the tank. Since many of the tanks are under the kitchen counters, this is a difficult task. Most people tell us that they are not interested in when it was manufactured, but when it was installed in their units. Most of the time, this information is not available, especially if a unit has been resold one or more times.

Fortunately, tanks normally begin to leak, so that there is some evidence of a water leak. Unfortunately, there are cases when a tank just breaks and floods a unit.

There is some new technology available right now that connects to the water inlet valve that automatically shuts off the water flow to the tank if it starts to leak. The cost of this item is in the $300 range. There are also some cheaper “leak detection devices” that will alert you to a beginning water leak if placed by the tank itself.

We continue to look at new technology that might be able to predict if a tank is going to fail. We did get a man to the moon, so perhaps we can find a way to predict when a hot water tank will go. Hope springs eternal. □

Recipes
Avis Blank

I would like to share a recent experience with you.

As you all know, the Rx on a doctor's prescription pad means "recipe." The pharmacist dispenses the medicine recipe as per the doctor's instructions.

A few days ago as I read the label of a new prescription, I realized that I could not follow the instructions. Typed on the label was "take 30 ML three times a day." "Woe is me," I didn't know what ML meant as I was only familiar with oz., tbs., tsp. and cups. A quick telephone call to the pharmacy solved the problem.

The next day, I shopped high and low in many stores before I finally found a set of measuring cups and spoons that were marked in MLs. For your convenience, I have listed a ML conversion chart and a recipe for cherries using a ML measurement for one of the ingredients. See if you can convert the ML measurement (correct answer is below) and cook the most delicious dessert that can either be eaten four hours after preparation or saved in jars to be used for the Thanksgiving, Christmas or New Year holidays.

Note: a ML is a milliliter.

ML Conversion Chart

- 1/2 tsp. = 2.5 ML
- 1 tsp. = 5 ML
- 1/2 tbs. = 7.5 ML
- 1 tbs. = 15 ML
- 1/8 cup = 30 ML
- 1/4 cup = 60 ML
- 1/2 cup = 125 ML

- 1 cup = 250 ML
- Cherries in Red Wine
Prep 5 minutes plus chilling. Cook 10 minutes. Makes 6 servings.
- 500 ML* dry red wine, such as Chianti
 - 1/2 c. sugar
 - 2 strips orange peel (3" by 1" each)
 - 1 (3-in.) stick cinnamon
 - 1-1/2 lbs. dark sweet cherries, stems on

- 1 In covered 4-quart saucepan, heat wine, sugar, orange peel, and cinnamon to boiling over medium-high heat. Boil 5 minutes. Cool to room temperature.
 - 2 Place cherries in bowl or storage container with tight-fitting lid. Pour wine mixture over cherries. Cover and refrigerate at least 4 hours or up to 2 days.
 - 3 To serve, ladle cherries with wine into cups or dessert bowls. After eating cherries, you can drink the wine!
- Each serving: About 155 calories, 1 g protein, 34 g carbohydrate, 1 g total fat (0 g saturated), 2 g fiber, 0 g cholesterol, 6 g sodium.
- * Answer: 500 ML = 2 cups.
- Did you figure out the correct measurement? ☐

Whether you are a proponent or opponent of the death penalty, Richard North Patterson's Conviction will hold your interest.

Terri Paget, her husband and stepson, all lawyers, have 59 days to save Rennell Price's life before he is put to death by lethal injection by the State of California. He has been found guilty, along with his brother, of raping and murdering a child. Paget believes he is innocent. His only statement has been "I didn't do that little girl."

Her appeals will be based on three claims — his brother's 11th hour confession professing Rennell's innocence, her belief that Rennell is retarded and therefore not subject to the death penalty under case law from the United States Supreme Court and that he received inadequate legal representation as his trial attorney was a cocaine addict who offered no defense on his behalf.

Patterson is obviously against the death penalty as he presents our legal system as not nearly perfect. With this book, he educates us on the inner workings of the circuit courts, the California Supreme Court and especially, the United States Supreme Court. This plot is intertwined with subplots that are not necessary, yet it takes us on a difficult journey whereby the procedure becomes more important than the guilt or innocence of the defendant.

The author illuminates as well as entertains. This story, though fiction, is a work of social commentary. I feel this book is a fine offering that is intriguing and engaging and is a wonderful treatise on the death penalty. □

All Americans are proud of our historic landmarks wherever they may be located. Every state has its special ones. Many colleges, universities and national parks have designated landmarks recognized by the U.S. as well as countries throughout the world.

These beautiful locations are considered as landmarks because they are icons of ideas that have shaped this nation.

Two such landmarks, Hoover Dam and Mount Rushmore, are honored by the U.S. Postal Service with the issuance of new stamps to be released this June.

A 2008 express mail shows Hoover Dam. Named for former President Herbert C. Hoover in 1931, the Dam is a civil engineering wonder and national historic landmark on the Arizona/Nevada border about 30 miles southeast of Las Vegas.

Measuring 726.34 feet from its foundation rock in a Colorado River canyon to the roadway at its crest, Hoover Dam is the nation's tallest concrete dam. It was the tallest dam ever built when completed in 1936. It attracts over seven million visitors from around the world every year, helping the vast tourism of the Las Vegas and Arizona economies.

The beauty and history of the Dam has created a gigantic reservoir of Lake Mead, a water recreation wonderland.

The painting on the new stamp displays a view looking upstream, with Nevada on the left and Arizona on the right. At the base of the Dam is the power plant. In the foreground, water flows from outlet works in the canyon's walls. Behind the Dam is the beautiful Lake Mead.

The 2008 Priority Mail stamp features an illustration of the Mount Rushmore National Memorial, which is located in the Black Hills of South Dakota, near the town of Keystone. Carved into Mount Rushmore itself, the monument consists of large scale sculptures of the faces of four American Presidents — George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt. The monument was intended "to commemorate the founding, expansion, preservation and unification of the U.S."

The sculptor for this edifice was John de la Mothe-Borglum, who selected Mount Rushmore, a granite mountain named for a New York attorney who had visited the Black Hills in 1885.

Work on the memorial began on August 10, 1927, when President Calvin Coolidge was present for the first ceremonial drilling.

Between 1927 and 1941, the workers created the monument. The four sculptural portraits were dedicated separately — Washington in 1930, Lincoln in 1937, Jefferson in 1939 and Roosevelt in the same year.

Mount Rushmore was officially completed on October 31, 1941. Because Gutzon Borglum had died earlier that year, the final drilling was overseen by his son, Lincoln Borglum.

The Hoover Express Mail stamp and the Mount Rushmore Priority Mail stamp will be available in post offices as well by calling 1-800-STAMP-24 on June 12. □

Transponders
Larry Kall

The construction going on at 2102 West Drive, the location of the new UCO office, has posed some minor problems for us as we normally use part of the parking area for a staging area while cars are waiting to have transponders installed. Fortunately, we have fewer requests for new transponders in the summer months so somehow, we should be able to handle the traffic.

Please remember on the morning that we do install transponders there will be a Deputy Sheriff on duty to help direct traffic. Each time a car that is getting a new transponder installed necessitates that all traffic be routed to the non-transponder side of the gatehouse and there will be

Library

We are getting complaints about too much talking while people are trying to concentrate on reading or working on a computer or chess game or even a jigsaw puzzle. Please be considerate of others, and take your conversations outside. You may note that some chess players talk constantly about their game (“could you have made a different move?”) and this is completely understandable — it’s a learning process. Let them do it their way, but this doesn’t apply to card players, who should be across the hall with their compadres.

If you haven’t noticed, a Security camera has been installed to deter thieves. Yes, books were being taken to flea markets and sold for ten cents each. Now, happily, some of these books are being returned. Since every book is a donation, let’s honor the people who provide us with such wonderful selections.

times that traffic is halted while the transponder is being tested on each car. The delay lasts only about a minute or two and then all traffic is waved through the gate, but some people get very upset when they are asked to wait and get a little vocal, which is now why the Sheriff is posted near the entrance to the gatehouse.

By the way, the Sheriff does check for seat belt use while he is on duty. □

What a Pill!

“Doctor,” Mrs. Mullet said as she braged into Dr. Healey’s office, “you’ve got to help me!” “Mrs. Mullet,” he explained, “I have told you over and over that your condition is beyond medical help.”

“That’s baloney! I want a second opinion!”

Realizing that his patient is determined, Dr. Healey reached into his drawer, took out a bottle of pills, gave it to Mrs. Mullet, and told her to take one at bedtime for the next two weeks.

As Mrs. Mullet left, Nurse Nancy Bloodworthy entered. “I see you gave our problem patient a prescription,” she said. “Will it make her feel better?”

“It will make me feel better; it’s a placebo!”

Sixtieth Birthday Party

by Dot Loewenstein

We missed you at the party on May 8th — and we know you were invited. But perhaps it was difficult for you to walk the mile, or the crowd of more than 2,000 was a little harder to handle at the end of the day. Let me tell you what you missed.

First, there was a sea of blue shirts, about half worn by children and half worn by adults. Then there were lots of balloons as well as people taking photos. There was even a helicopter watching, and the police escort was really something! We could walk across intersections while the automobiles had to wait for us — what a feeling of power!

The crowd of more than 2,000 left CityPlace shortly after 6:00 p.m. and paraded to Clematis Street, meeting others who were already at the Meyer Amphitheater. Chairs had been set up, and vendors were waiting.

The food, while I'm sure was delicious, was provided by two caterers, but we had to stand in line, unfortunately. Given a choice between sitting in a reserved seat down front, or standing in line, we split up and took turns (a) holding the seats or (b) waiting to order food. (a) won, hands down, even though we spent 45 minutes on (b).

Then there was the ceremonial candle lighting, which is what you expect at a 60th birthday party. We cheated — there were only six candles, one of which was lit by a soldier in the Israel Defense Force. Oh! Now you remember what the party was all about! Yes, it was the 60th anniversary of the date (1948) when Israel became an independent state.

Music was provided by an exceptional group of Israeli singers and dancers, and we sat mesmerized for more than an hour, listening and watching in awe. The amount of energy was unbelievable, and the costume changes were accomplished at a frenzied pace. After we all stood to sing Hatikvah there were fireworks. The event ended promptly at 9:30, as advertised, and we had enough leftover enthusiasm so that the mile walk back to our car was totally lighthearted, not an effort at all.

Since you missed this party, be sure to mark your calendar for the 70th — it should be even more fantastic, and you surely don't want to miss it. □

Maintenance
Jerry Karpf

April 8, 2007

With more unit owners installing hurricane shutters, changing their windows and doors to hurricane-resistant strength — it is recommended that Associations add new rules and regulations to documents describing the type and color of hurricane shutters that can be installed.

I recommend the type of hurricane windows and doors that would be acceptable to the Association be put into their documents. This will keep the building looking uniform.

Remember, from now on, all windows and doors that are installed must be hurricane-resistant and carry a Florida or Miami-Dade hurricane stamp of approval and must have a permit. The same goes for anyone who is looking to install or rebuild a patio. They must have an engineer draw up the specifications to meet current hurricane codes.

You will need permits, and the work must be done by a licensed contractor who can make all the arrangements in getting an engineer and obtaining the necessary permits. Remember, never hire a worker or contractor without seeing his license and insurance coverage, and above all, never pay any money in full until the work has passed code inspection and is properly finished. I suggest paying no more than 25% to 50% down and then 50% when the job is finished.

Our first guest speakers were Marc Rosenberg, Esq., and Mark Bogus, Esq. These two gentlemen came to lecture Century Village on the time limit that everyone in the state of Florida faces about placing any additional insurance claims they may have with regards to the past three hurricanes we had in Florida. Marc Rosenberg advised all the Association Presidents and Board Members, that they have only until June 1, 2008, to file any hurricane related claims, to their condo's insurance company. Mark Bogus described how they were acting as Public Adjusters and will help any Century Village Condominium Association who may still have some hurricane damage, file a new claim to collect any monies that are due them.

Our next guest was Mr. Paul Van Tongeren, who owns a roofing company which is offering a free white electro-metric coating for flat roofs. This is a great product with many advantages: It reflects back most of the heat of the sun; it saves the cost of electricity in a building; it also seals the roof, preventing leaks, and above all, it's free.

There are some qualifications: The roof must be in good condition (meaning no tears, no obvious leaks, and not falling apart); the roofs must not have any pebbles on the surface. If the roof meets these qualifications, it first must be inspected by Mr. Tongeren's company. If it passes his inspection, Florida Power and Light will inspect the roof. If the roof passes both inspections, the Association will receive the Electrometric coating free of charge. If any Association is having problems with any of the quotes or proposals from Mr. Tongeren's company, please see me, I have another source.

Those Associations that have not been attending the Maintenance Meetings have been missing out on a lot of information about new products, services, changes in

To My Daughter

There's snow up North at this time of year
But a fall on the ice I need not fear.
For I've flown like the birds to a warmer clime
To rest, relax, and have a good time.
I feel full of zest and holiday cheer;
If not for you I wouldn't be here.
It's not really weather or seeing new places,
Making new friends, or meeting new faces.
For no matter the country we choose to roam
It's your love and your presence that makes it home.
There is nothing on earth that can be compared
With the fun and laughter we have shared.
We always feel free to confide in each other,
A rare relationship between daughter and mother.
You're my best friend, companion, helpmate all in one
The greatest of treasures since time has begun.
May time keep us close as we've been from the start,
For I love you Dear Daughter, with all of my heart.

Wexler Takes Risk with World Jewry

U.S. Rep. Robert Wexler, the media-described “top Jewish proxy” for Barack Obama’s campaign, has been trying to explain Obama’s statements about meeting with Iranian President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad. In the past, Wexler has independently recommended meeting with Iran on these issues.

Wexler’s attempt to soften Obama’s position on dealing with the Muslim nation and Israel is troublesome. Wexler’s attempt to sway the Jewish community with his soft interpretation of Obama’s statement is an abomination.

It is clear from many of Obama’s speeches that he regards good relations with worldwide Muslims as a priority. Obama also says he is committed to Israel’s security “as one of the important countries in the Middle East.” Obama fails, however, to explain the extent of the compromise he is willing to make and how he would exert pressure to reach that compromise. By describing Israel as equally important to other Middle Eastern nations, he downgrades the special relationship the U.S. has with Israel which is to keep it technologically and militarily superior to its hostile neighbors.

Wexler has embraced some of Israel’s enemies such as past Palestinian National Authority President Yasser Arafat and has supported major sanctions on behalf of the Israelis in negotiations.

Wexler should clarify his statements as his own opinions. He should disclose his political conflict of interest in the Obama campaign.

Obama’s position is in my opinion a degradation of the special relationship Israel has with the U.S. Any downgrade in policy will embolden Israel’s enemies and worldwide anti-Semitism. The United States is the strongest and best ally of Israel. Any attempt to weaken that relationship would be disastrous and permanent. Wexler should not take risks with the safety of the World’s Jewry. I, Ben Graber, would never take such a chance; Robert Wexler obviously will.

Ben Graber is the son of Holocaust survivors and was born in a displaced persons camp in Germany. Graber is a former Broward County Mayor, County Commissioner and State Representative. He is currently a candidate for U.S. Congressional District 19.

Paid for by Ben Graber for Congress.

Holocaust
By Kurt Weiss

“Many among us, and not only those of the Jewish Faith, remember the horrors perpetrated by a people thought of as among the most sophisticated in their era against others who, for generations, lived in their midst: the Holocaust.”

For most, this is an annual day of remembrance: “Holocaust Day” or “Yom Ha-shoah.” For others, and their number is less from year to year, it is another day within a year’s three hundred sixty five days during which they mourn, daily, the tragic death of their loved ones.

One might think that the passage of time may make it easier, that the horrible memories recede. Let me tell you: no way! What was the most tragic event in our lives remains as fresh in our memory as though it happened yesterday. All we are able to do is, by pushing it back, we use it as some kind of a defense mechanism, so that we may be able to function — but it never leaves us.

All that civilized people can do is make sure that such horror does not recur. “Never again” we say — and then we make believe, as though saying that is enough, as though what happened since (and is still happening — in various places on Earth, such as Darfur) is none of our concern. We pay lip service; we commiserate with the poor victims of unbelievable atrocities and we continue with our lives, only mourning our own dead, as though people subjected to these horrors are not part of the human race are not our brothers and sisters.

We condone “little holocausts” by ignoring other people’s suffering. We agree to waging wars resulting in thousands upon thousands of dead, always finding an appropriate excuse. “The other side started it.” We only defend ourselves — and while we were against it, we did not actively oppose it. We only passively stand by, just voicing our distress.

But in the final analysis, we all are coconspirators in what goes on anywhere on this earth.

So, on this day of somber remembrance, when my people mourn the horrible death of a generation, let us admit that the “never again” occurred, again and again, and we did nothing to stop it. □

As I See It

I am going to interject something into the decision-making process in this campaign circle which I hoped would not be necessary: I refer to prejudice.

I am concerned that prejudice is rather widespread. So many among us contemplate deciding — not whom to vote for, but rather who not to vote for — not because they do not like where a specific candidate stands with regards to the war in Iraq, or the recession or whatever else. No: There is an undercurrent which clearly indicates that prejudice is alive and well and flourishing.

No one challenged for prejudice will admit that he/she dislikes a candidate because of race, gender or religion. That would be too crass.

They find excuses.

In the case of my co-religionists, the excuse is a candidate's stand on Israel or his lack of enthusiasm to enter the Middle East minefield, not "evenhanded," but with a clear pro-Israel position.

There seems to be the notion that some U.S. Presidents loved Israel and some were "evenhanded" — read: if not outright pro-Arab (oil?), at least disregarding Israel's security needs.

We should not kid ourselves. Love has nothing to do with it. U.S. Presidents will follow a pro-Israel line of action so long as this fits American interests. Even those who would rather not have anything to do with Israel will think twice before taking any action which might endanger the existence of Israel, which is a military-nuclear superpower in the Middle East and America's only true ally in that area.

What I said about U.S. Presidents holds equally true with regard to those who wish to become President.

If there are any people on the face of this earth who for thousands of years have suffered from prejudicial discrimination, it is we Jews. How can we, who suffered all through history, everywhere, not excluding this country, "do unto others" what we were — and are — subjected to? We should have a clear understanding what a candidate's stand is on matters of the utmost importance to this country, regardless of age, gender or race.

There are some among us who contemplate expressing their prejudice by staying home and not voting.

In so many places in the world, people fight — and die — for the right to vote. We are lucky — we have that right, but it is not just a right, it is an obligation. □

Reflection

The hum-drum of summer becomes the time for reflection. It is not enough to harness your thoughts about your past life during the “good-ole-days.” We probably remember them better than we remember what we had for dinner last night. Some people claim that at times your whole past life will flash before your eyes.

That’s not what I mean by reflection. I’m referring to special moments in your life, to what you may have accomplished and your dreams of what you had hoped to accomplish; to some things you are very proud of and other moments that you wish you could call back for a different ending.

We all have our closet secrets, which, perhaps, should not be revealed, especially not in print. It is not necessary to go to a special place to ponder your thoughts. Again, I am not speaking about your present day thoughts. It is your inner thoughts that never seem to surface, that remain within you for no one else’s recognition. Did you do right or wrong? Were you embarrassed or did you embarrass someone else? Was something legal or illegal?

Some say that soul searching is good for the person while others declare it to be of no value, that it is bordering on harmful to the individual. Remember the song In the Mood? Sitting quiet at home with thoughts of what happened yesterday is not “in the mood.” Let your thoughts drift back to very special moments — to times that you were extremely happy; or that you were very, very sad, embarrassed or even guilty. It is a soul cleansing that will start a new day for our complicated present day life.

Have a good — day dreaming — day. □

Scientist Brundle is experimenting on a teleportation chamber that uses the telephonic infrastructure as a transport medium.

His chamber is in Los Angeles; his colleague Delambre built an identical one in San Francisco. Brundle steps into his chamber and activates it, expecting to reunite with Delambre.

Instead, he hears an unfamiliar hum. The next thing he knows, he’s shrunk inside a computer: Some kid’s DSL line tapped into his experiment and interfered with it, causing him to be diverted into the modem. He crawls out and is sighted by the kid, who screams, “Mom, I got spyware in my computer!”

Mapping Out New In-Car Navigation Systems

(NAPSI) — Whether you're driving to work, to the store or hitting the road with your family, new types of smart in-car navigation systems can help make your next trip go a little smoother.

Smart navigation systems now help consumers get from point A to point B while also serving as hubs for favorite wired and wireless technologies. The 2006 International Consumer Electronics Show spotlighted a number of these new types of navigational systems — many of which included seamless integration of the hottest mobile technologies.

For instance, Pioneer's newest intelligent in-car navigation system, the AVIC-Z1, lets people connect portable music devices, satellite radio and Bluetooth-enabled cell phones while simultaneously providing detailed navigation information.

Here's a closer look:

Communicate

Bluetooth technology is growing in popularity because it offers the convenience of hands-free operation in the car. Pioneer's new navigation system lets users sync their Bluetooth mobile phones and carry out cellular conversation through the speakers in the car. When calls are made or received, the music stops and the call can be answered or made through the touch-screen display.

One of the fastest multifeature Bluetooth mobile phones on the market is the Samsung t809. The fashionable, ultra-slim device features EDGE High-Speed Technology, as well as a host of multimedia capabilities. The phone packs an MP3 player with dual speakers, a video media player and a 1.3-megapixel camera and camcorder into a 3.3-ounce device. This phone (along with other Bluetooth-enabled cell phones) is highly compatible with Pioneer's in-car navigation system.

Entertain

With more than 42 million sold, the Apple iPod® continues to be one of the hottest items for '06. While car adapters make it possible for owners to listen to the device in their vehicles, they don't always offer a high level of user control or audio quality. Pioneer's navigation system can be combined with Pioneer's iPod adapter to let users control an iPod through the seven-inch touch screen. The screen displays the same information as the device does, including artist name, song title and album. It also offers higher-quality sound.

Pioneer's AVIC-Z1 also offers a complete entertainment experience in the form of CD and DVD playback with additional plug-in attachments for XM™ and Sirius™ Satellite Radio.

Learn

Unlike many of its competitors, Pioneer's new navigation system offers dynamic route guidance and considers speed limits and street signs for the most efficient route to a destination.

An optional navigation traffic tuner provides up-to-the-minute traffic information and reroutes to avoid traffic incidents through XM's Nav-Traffic service, with subscription required. The system also "learns" frequently traveled routes and can understand conversational commands through advanced voice recognition. That means getting to a destination can be as simple as saying "go to..."

Enjoy The Ride

Analysts say these new types of all-in-one navigation systems may help change the way many people drive. The technology can help motorists stay on the right path to their destination, stay in touch with loved ones, and stay entertained on the road.

New types of in-car navigational systems now serve as hubs for favorite technologies, such as cell phones and MP3 players. □

"Best Dining Value of 2007"
Charles Passy, Food Critic
Palm Beach Post — Dec. 14, 2007

"...Yes, it's a buffet, but it goes well beyond the quality you'll find at most steam-tray emporiums. The roasted meats are outstanding, but the salad-bar offerings (fruited Jell-O!) and side dishes are more than respectable enough. But the price is the real draw—a mere nine bucks for dinner!"

Creativity and Courage

On November 18, 1995, Itzhak Perlman, the violinist, came on stage to give a concert at Avery Fisher Hall at Lincoln Center in New York City. If you have ever been to a Perlman concert, you know that getting on stage is no small achievement for him.

He was stricken with polio as a child, and so he has braces on both legs and walks with the aid of two crutches. To see him walk across the stage one step at a time, painfully and slowly, is an awesome sight.

He walks painfully, yet majestically, until he reaches his chair. Then he sits down, slowly, puts his crutches on the floor, undoes the clasps on his legs, tucks one foot back and extends the other foot forward. Then he bends down and picks up the violin, puts it under his chin, nods to the conductor and proceeds to play.

By now, the audience is used to this ritual. They sit quietly while he makes his way across the stage to his chair. They remain reverently silent while he undoes the clasps on his legs. They wait until he is ready to play.

But this time, something went wrong. Just as he finished the first few bars, one of the strings on his violin broke. You could hear it snap — it went off like gunfire across the room. There was no mistaking what that sound meant.

There was no mistaking what he had to do. We figured that he would have to get up, put on the clasps again, pick up the crutches and limp his way off stage — to either find another violin or else find another string for this one. But he didn't. Instead, he waited a moment, closed his eyes and then signaled the conductor to begin again.

The orchestra began, and he played from where he had left off. And he played with such passion and such power and such purity as they had never heard before.

Of course, anyone knows that it is impossible to play a symphonic work with just three strings. I know that, and you know that, but that night Itzhak Perlman refused to know that.

You could see him modulating, changing, re-composing the piece in his head.

At one point, it sounded like he was de-tuning the strings to get new sounds from them that they had never made before. When he finished, there was an awesome silence in the room. And then people rose and cheered.

There was an extraordinary outburst of applause from every corner of the auditorium. We were all on our feet, screaming and cheering, doing everything we could to show how much we appreciated what he had done.

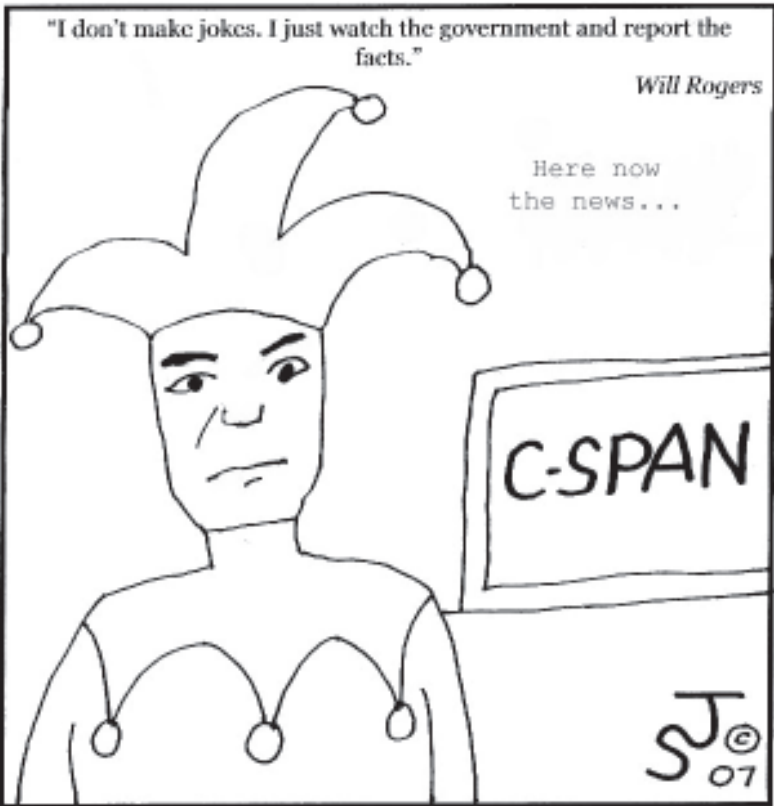

He smiled, wiped the sweat from this brow, raised his bow to quiet us, and then he said — not boastfully, but in a quiet, pensive, reverent tone — “You know, sometimes it is the artist's task to find out how much music you can still make with what you have left.”

What a powerful line that is.

It has stayed in my mind ever since I heard it. And who knows? Perhaps that is the definition of life — not just for artists but for all of us. Here is a man who has prepared all his life to make music on a violin of four strings, who, all of a sudden, in the middle of a concert, finds himself with only three strings; so he makes music with three strings, and the music he made that night with just three strings was more beautiful, more sacred, more memorable, than any that he had ever made before, when he had four strings.

So, perhaps our task in this shaky, fast-changing, bewildering world in which we live is to make music, at first with all that we have, and then, when that is no longer possible, to make music with what we have left.

Pigs, Penguins, and Possibilities

By Rita L. Rudow

Can a Penguin ride on back of a Pig
Or quack like a duck who’s dancing a jig?
It’s a possibility
Can a pig take a shower and ignore the bath of mud
Can a carrot grow like a potato and then be called a spud?
It’s a possibility
Can you imagine the three little pigs driving together
Safe and warm to all kinds of weather
It’s a possibility
The word possibility
conjures up a show
Word pictures in action, just let it flow
The Pigs and Penguins can be the characters three There’s Pig, Penguin, and then there’s me.
What fun we do have writing
it in rhyme
Others have fun doing it in Mime
‘Tis time to put the little ones to sleep
with stories so happy, the memories they’ll keep how lucky to know that words can be used
how lucky the children not being abused
So use the words wisely then give a smile
It’ll be with them for life
And that’s a long while.

Menopause Roulette

A woman was in a gambling
casino for the first time
At the roulette table she says
“I have no idea what number to play”
A young good looking man
nearby suggests she play
her age
Smiling at the man, she puts her money on number 32
The wheel is spun and 41 comes up
The smile drifted from the woman’s face and she fainted.

A Poem

Below is a wonderful poem Audrey Hepburn wrote when asked to share her “beauty
tips” It was read at her funeral years later.

For attractive lips, speak
words of kindness
For lovely eyes, seek out the good in people
For beautiful hair, let a child run his/her fingers through it once a day
For a slim figure, share your food with the hungry
For poise, walk with the knowledge that you never walk alone
People, even more than
things, have to be restored,
Renewed, revived, reclaimed
and redeemed
Never throw out anyone
Remember, if you ever need a helping hand
You will find one at the end of each of your arms
As you grow older you will discover that you have two hands
One for helping yourself, and the other for helping others.

Cherished Memories

Bring me back, let me in
To the magic of childhood
Where a book was a treasure
And a rag doll was a toy
To the laughter and gay times
The love and the “Maytimes”
To papa and momma, four girls and a boy
Where the house was so crowded
But never too small
For the love that was in it
So shared by us all
Where a penny was as great
As a precious jewel
And a world to discover
Was going to school
Time can’t erase these memories I’ve known
Like a painting forever
etched in my brain
And I always will treasure,
these things all my own
As thoughts of dear ones,
forever remain.

Blue Day to Happy Day!

I woke in a fog, the sky was like lead
A dreary glum day — I’ll hide in my bed!
But winds from Jamaica
tickled my toes
And the magic of sunrise
cleared out my nose!
Everything negative, life
filled with minuses Imagination cleared out my sinuses!
The roar of the lawnmowers,
the tweet of a bird
The sounds round my condo
— sweet to b hear
The phone rings: “Hello,
Sophia is here!”
A voice says, “Canasta?” I answer quite clear
“I’m free today — happy to play!”
at once the frenetic becomes copasetic!
Century Village — I like you
— I’ll stay!

Meeting Challenges!!!

We meet challenges every day
Be it at work — or be it at play
There can be greener pastures in one’s life
But are they filled with hurts
and strife
We know no why, or what we must do
Many are the challenges we will see through
The challenge to walk —
when one sits in a chair,
The challenge to breathe —
though smoke fills the air
The challenge to get up — when one is knocked down
The challenge of sadness —
or being the clown
Problems arise when one is alone – you cannot always get to a phone
To visualize the road ahead
— what will be finished
ere yu go to bed
The challenge of waking — is one we don’t know, do we have days – what be the flow
To be...in the moment — to live in the Now, the Powers that Be, have shown us the How

So dear friends...
Meet these challenges with a smile on your face
Time will heal all — yet never erase...

Rita L. Rudow

In Case I Forget

In case I forget to kiss you goodnight
Or hold your hand gently in mine
Just wrap me tightly inside
your arms
And remember the happier
times
In case I forget when glancing at you
The one, who makes me
complete
Alzheimer’s may have won with my mind
But my heart it will never defeat
In case I forget to tell you how much You’re cherished and treasured each day
My best friend beside me to brighten the path
And carry me all of the way
I may greet you someday
with questioning eyes
As a stranger with whom
I’ve just met
Still, I love you my darling
with all of my heart
Remember...in case I forget.

Universal Roots

Those who take pride in their mythical roots
Could use it better in other pursuits
Pushed into that quest by self styled brothers
Praising their tribe
denouncing all others
Prisoners are they of their primitive past
Of endless cycles, how long will it last
Though its apparent all roots are the same
They keep right on playing this claptrap game
It’s time to fight all bigotry
daily
Between black and white,
Arab-Israeli
Moslem-Christian, Asian-European
Indian-Afghan, Chinese-
Korean
Serb and Croat, Romanian-Hungarian
Ethnocentric is the barbarian

Dichotomies and lines let us erase
For we all belong to one

The Land of Lost Loves

Tis at the very end of the Lavender Ray
In a Land of Imagination
That’s so far away
There’s a land that’s known to those above
More simply called the Land
of Lost Love
Not that these loves were lost
by us
They simply left us here too soon
The moms and dad, brothers and sisters
Could not plead for themselves a boon.
We know we will all be together
And be overwhelmed by the source
We know our hearts and minds will prosper
Without a bit of remorse
The visibility of the Land of Lost Loves
Will be accessible to all
The togetherness will be accessible
By merely reading the Roll
Call
Eternity blooms in a future time
When will mankind ever reach its prime
We shall be welcomed by all
In the Land of Lost Loves
So, throw away the anger
Throw away the boxing gloves
Plan to greet those whom you knew on earth
Smile and acknowledge them
with heartfelt mirth
Raindrops and rainbows that come from above
Will be the new reality in the Land of Lost Love

Crabby Old Men

When an old man died in the geriatric ward of a small hospital near Tampa, Florida, it was believed that he had nothing left of any value.

Later, when the nurses were going through his meager possessions, they found this poem. Its quality and content so impressed the staff that copies were made and distributed to every nurse in the hospital.

One nurse took her copy to Missouri. The old man's sole bequest to posterity has since appeared in the Christmas edition of the News Magazine of the St. Louis Association for Mental Health. A slide presentation has also been made based on his simple, but eloquent, poem.

And this little old man, with nothing left to give to the world, is now the author of this "anonymous" poem winging across the Internet.

Crabby Old Man

What do you see, nurses?
What do you see?
What are you thinking when you're looking at me?
A crabby old man, not very wise,
Uncertain of habit with faraway eyes?
Who dribbles his food and makes no reply,
When you say in a loud voice "I do wish you'd try!"
Who seems not to notice the things that you do,
And forever is losing a sock or shoe?
Who, resisting or not, lets you do as you will,
With bathing and feeding the long day to till?
Is that what you're thinking?
Is that what you see?
Then open your eyes, nurse, you're not looking at me.
I'll tell you who I am as I sit here so still,
As I do at your bidding, as I eat at your will.
I'm a small child often with a father and mother,
Brothers and sisters who love one another.
A young boy of Sixteen with wings on his feet,
Dreaming that soon now a lover he'll meet.
A groom soon at Twenty my heart gives a leap,
Remembering, the vows that I promised to keep.
At Twenty-Five, now I have young of my own,
Who need me to guide and a secure happy home.
A man of Thirty, my young now grown fast,
Bound to each other with ties that should last.

At Forty, my young sons have grown and are gone,
But my woman's beside me to see I don't mourn.
At Fifty, once more, Babies play 'round my knee,
Again, we know children, my loved one and me.
Dark days are upon me, my wife is now dead.
I look at the future, I shudder with dread.
For my young are all rearing young of their own,
And I think of the years and the love that I've known.
I'm now an old man and nature is cruel.
'Tis jest to make old age look like a fool.
The body, it crumbles; grace and vigor, depart.
There is now a stone where I once had a heart.
But inside this old carcass, a young guy still dwells,
And now and again my battered heart swells.
I remember the joys; I remember the pain,
And I'm loving and living life over again.
I think of the years, all too few, gone too fast,
And accept the stark fact that nothing can last.
So open your eyes, people. open and see...
Not a crabby old man. Look closer...see...me!!!
Remember this poem when you next meet an older person who you might brush aside without looking at the young soul within...we will all one day, be there, too!

Please share this poem.
The best and most beautiful things of this world can't be seen or touched. They must be felt by the heart.

Did I Read That Sign Right?

In a public restroom:
Toilet out of order. Please use floor below.
In a Laundromat:
Automatic washing machines: Please remove all your clothes when the light goes out.
In a London department store:
Bargain basement upstairs.
In an office:
Would the person who took the stepladder yesterday please bring it back or further steps will be taken.
In another office:
After tea break, staff should empty the teapot and stand upside down on the draining board.
Outside a secondhand shop:
We exchange anything — bicycles, washing machines, etc. Why not bring your wife along and get a wonderful bargain?
Notice in health food shop window:
Closed due to illness.
Spotted in a safari park (I sure hope so):

Elephants: Please stay in your car.
Seen during a conference:
For anyone who has children and doesn't know it, there is a day care on the first floor.
Notice in a farmer's field:
The farmer allows walkers to cross the field for free, but the bull charges.
Message on a leaflet:
If you cannot read, this leaflet will tell you how to get lessons.
On a repair shop door:
We can repair anything. (Please knock hard on the door — the bell doesn't work.)

Hotel Key Cards: The Straight Story
By John Saponaro

In a previous issue, we reprinted a filler story from the Internet claiming that electromagnetic swipe cards used by hotels not only contain room information, but personal information, and hotels do not erase this information, creating an invitation for identity theft. We have since been informed that this is a false story. We went on snopes.com, a Web site that specializes in separating truth from fiction, and getting the facts. From the site's entry: "None of the hotels we contacted (including the Doubletree chain) said they do (or even can) encode personal information on hotel key-cards, nor could any of them offer a plausible explanation of how they would benefit from doing so." The site quotes a Hilton security expert: "Certainly, modern security systems are sufficiently sophisticated that personal identifying information 'could' be encoded onto hotel card-keys. To do so, however, would be pointless and would create additional work (and expense)."

Snopes continues: "Even in cases where a hotel keycard can be used to purchase goods and services (e.g., at a resort complex such as Walt Disney World), guests' credit card information is not encoded on the cards themselves; the cards simply contain a flag indicating that the guest has a credit card on file with the resort and is authorized to charge purchases to his room." The piece ends with a reassurance that you can take home and destroy the card in question or keep it as a souvenir. If that's not enough, you can always call a psychic to put a whammy on it. Special acknowledgement to David Israel. □
