THE PROPOSED 2016-2017 BUDGET

And the Impact on the Association

BY HOWARD O'BRIEN

The proposed budget will be presented to and voted on by the Delegate Assembly on Jan. 8, 2016.

This proposed budget is an austerity budget. The only increases are in the contractual obligations. The detail of costs show mostly reductions.

The proposed 2016-2017 Budget that was approved by the UCO Committees totals $7,168,000 or $76.05 per month/per unit. The Officers Committee revised the budget amount to $6,868,000 or $72.87 per month for an increase of $4.19 per month

The increase is a result of a decrease in anticipated revenue of $2.26 per month and a general increase in expenses of $1.40 per month, primarily cable cost of $1.69.

The $72.87 per unit/per month, when blended with the existing rate of $68.68 will be a blended rate of $71.82 per month for a net increase of $2.54 per month over last year. This amount will be used by the property managers in preparing your Association Budget for the next calendar year.

The increase is mainly attributed to increases in Security $0.32, Cable $1.64, and a Millennium Legal Fund of $.53. Both Security and Cable increases are covered by UCO contracts.

There is no increase in the Pooled Infrastructure Reserve. The annual funding will remain at $700,000.

The details of the proposed budget as shown in the detailed costs, the budget summary and the blended rate calculation are for the

UCO Delegate Assembly Minutes

DECEMBER 4, 2015

The meeting was called to order at 9:30 AM by President David Israel. The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Capt.Bruckner. There was a moment of silence observed to remember the victims in the recent terrorist act in California.

A quorum was met with 161 delegates in attendance.

This meeting is being videotaped and Ed Grossman is recording.

PBSO report was given by Capt. Bruckner. This month there were no violent crimes. 2 thefts and 3 cases of fraud were reported. Several traffic violations as traffic increases, also a reminder to be very aware of computer scams, also be aware of surroundings and be alert when shopping.

He talked briefly of the terrorist act in California. There is a video as what to do when an "Active shooter" alert is given. Internet address will be given later at security meeting.

There is a PBSO sponsoring "Free Shredding" event Jan. 9th, 2016, from 9AM to 1PM at the CVS on the corner of Military Trail and Okeechobee Blvd.

Question for Capt. Bruckner How do you notify all residents in event of a shooter? Ans. Electronically-if possible things happen fast. First responders get there within minutes. Difficult with multiple variables.

Minutes (included in the packet) there were no corrections, comments or questions. Dave Israel accepted the minutes as presented.

Due to a full agenda and time constraints the guests, County Court Judge Candidate Ettie Feistmann, group 15 and candidate Lisa Grossman for Judge in Group 7 were given time for an introduction only.

Treasurer's Report (included in packet) Howard O'brien gave the Treasurer's report, hearing no correction or additions; the report was accepted as written. Howard reminded the delegates that we will be voting on the new budget, Jan. 8, 2016. If you have questions, call or come into his office at UCO.

New Business

The order of business is changed due to a full agenda...

Gibbs from Linda HBA-Honest Ballot Association made a presentation about her company, which will be conducting the UCO election in March, 2016. This company, established in 1909 by Teddy Roosevelt, is dedicated to the principle that an honest vote is essential for the preservation and enhancement of the American way of life. HBA is helping to modernize the voting procedures, including helping replace paper ballots with touch screen, etc.

A demonstration of the electronic voting machine will be held in Classroom C at the conclusion of the delegates meeting. Associations, be sure you have your delegates listed on the voter roles, as the person eligible to vote for your association.

Claudine Finklestein made a Motion to adopt proposed Marilyn P. amendment change. seconded the motion. Changes from original wording are in bold and/or struck thru:

EDITORIAL

BY MYRON SILVERMAN & JOY VESTAL

What a great way to start off a New Year! All the associations that have Brown & Brown Insurance have learned that we will have a 20-25% decrease in our insurance rates for our buildings. We understand this is partially due to more companies entering the Florida market with the absence of storms in the past few years. Thank heaven for the good weather. The UCO budget will be presented and voted on this month.

There is a $2.45 increase. Really not bad considering the continuous improvements that we see being made almost every day. The WPRF budget has decreased by 98 cents. This may not seem like much but as the old saying goes, every little bit helps. The Officers and Operations Committee had many long and exacting meetings with Eva Rachesky and her staff going over their proposed budget. We all were mindful that, yes, there are improvements to be made to the clubhouse and other WPRF facilities, but they must be done in the most financially astute way.

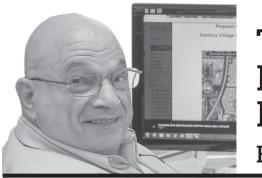

Remember the UCO Elections will be held March 4th. This year voting will be conducted using electronic equipment. This should make the process easier, efficient, and will be overseen by a company with a great record for conducting elections for many years with an excellent reputation. It's most important that all associations have filed their delegates names so there will be no confusion that day.

So, all in all, we're off to a good start. Hopefully it will continue for our Village. Thanks to all the building officers who give their time and effort to help their residents.

Happy Holidays!

State of UCO Operations

"In accordance with the Bylaws, The President of UCO shall submit a report of the operations of UCO for the preceding year to the January meeting of the Delegate Assembly, or may publish his report in the UCO Reporter."

As I write this, the associations in the UCO-Brown & Brown Insurance program are thinking about what to do with the 25% savings on their insurance premiums. This is a result of special effort by our Insurance Committee. From the beginning of my administration, I have insisted on an RFP & Bid process, which has revealed and developed new markets and competitors. This is what UCO is all about, and is but the tip of the iceberg as testimony to the fact that the State of UCO Operations is great.

My philosophy of UCO operations is embodied in a few words: Service, fiscal responsibility, and fiduciary integrity. Our capacity to provide services, such as Barcode Decals on Demand, has improved even further by expanding the service to WPRF. This is the direct result of cultivating a spirit of cooperation with WPRF management, in contrast to the "bad old days" of constant adversarial conflict.

Fiscal responsibility is reflected in the fact that we have finally swept away the paper-pushing accounting, engendered by multiple unnecessary accounts, in favor of electronic bill pay. And I must note that despite the "woe is me" philosophy of a few, UCO has built up our Reserves to now three million dollars, which is rising slowly but steadily.

UCO's efforts, through the guidance of the Operations Committee (composed of UCO and WPRF personnel), has resulted in a reduction of nearly one million dollars in the initial WPRF budget proposal for 2016, transforming $8.00/month/unit proposed an increase, to a 97 cent decrease in the WPRF 2016 dues.

upgrades of the irrigation system, are excellent, providing a favorable impression to prospective buyers. We have initiated a program of asphalt repairs starting with the perimeter road walkway and the bus stops, which is proceeding slowly but deliberately. The inevitable result has been a slow and steady increase in apartment prices and sales volume. All in all, excellent results.

The steady build-out of our Information Technology (IT) infrastructure has improved our ability in UCO and the Reporter to process data, research our history and as a result avoid repeating mistakes, which saves us money. I must note that the UCO Reporter, our Village newspaper, has never looked better.

Such IT improvements will be immediately obvious to our electorate, when they vote on touchscreen devices for the first time in UCO history in the March 2016 UCO election.

More UCO meetings are being video-recorded and displayed on Channel 63, the Our Village Blog, and our website. More emailed minutes and PSA's are being sent to our unit owners by way of our Information Forward Initiative. In this arena of IT, the state of UCO is excellent. But there is much more to do, which I hope to accomplish, if reelected.

As of this past year, UCO has eliminated three paid positions, thus saving our unit owners over one hundred thousand dollars. There has been no loss of services as a result; all tasks have been transitioned to volunteers.

Finally, I must give special mention to your UCO officer corps. With another year under their collective belts, there is improved synergy in their combined operations: in a few words, things are getting done. Thus it may be said that the guidance of UCO officers, in combination with the various committees, has resulted in another productive year, and that the State of UCO operations is good!

Volunteers all. Think about it, a village with a 7- million- dollar budget run by volunteers. Also your own building, all volunteers as well. Most of us are retired and never thought we would be working again. Especially for free! Well, we are and we're enjoying it, too. Sometimes there are volunteers that stand out in our minds. Recently I had the pleasant experience of working with just one of them.

A resident came into my office and told me he was having a very serious problem with his unit involving a leak that he thought was being caused by an upstairs unit. I followed up by calling the officers in his building. I reached the president and a vice-president. What a rewarding experience that was for me. I was kept informed by these officers on steps being taken to address this issue. I was later informed that the problem was being corrected. I thanked them for their efforts and concern. But, you know what -- I didn't hear back from the resident. I wonder if he took the efforts of all the officers involved for granted?

Do you?

As of December 31, 2015, UCO continues to have a strong cash position of approximately $3,040,000. Of this amount, $2,547,000 represents the Pooled Infrastructure Reserves that will continue to be built this year. This reflects an increase of $284,000 from last month.

The current level of funding the Infrastructure Reserve for the 2015-2016 Budget Year will continue until reliable information becomes available suggesting a change to the current assumptions. It is anticipated that the current annual funding of $700,000 to the Infrastructure Reserve will continue in the next year.

The details of the Pooled Infrastructure Reserves have been previously printed in the Reporter, but copies are available upon request.

For the nine months of the 2015-2016 Budget, Revenues were approximately $5,400,000, which is about $115,000 more than Budget. This is attributed to overpayments by property managers.

Expenses for the same period were about $5,066,000. The expenses were $219,000 less than Budget. Overall, these variances produce a net favorable variance of approximately $115,000 for the nine months of the current Budget for 2015-2016.

Additionally, for the calendar and fiscal year of 2015, UCO has estimated income of $6,713,000 compared with expenses of $6,657,000, which produces a positive variance of $56,000 for the year. These amounts

I know many Century Village associations are preparing for their annual meetings. If I can help, or if you want me to attend an association meeting, call me at UCO (561-683-9189) or on my cell (561-707-4363).

I want to thank our Maintenance Coordinator, Donald Foster, for his efforts with our holiday lighting installation. There were some weather related delays on this project and he worked hard to see the thing through to completion. It is a pleasure to see projects being followed up on and finished.

The bus contract is coming due a year from now. I would appreciate any input from residents, and particularly from bus riders. Any reasonable suggestions would be welcomed. Our Transportation Committee meets on the first Tuesday of each month in the Clubhouse card room.

If you encounter any volunteer usher that you feel you want to acknowledge, please call me at UCO. All of our volunteers deserve our thanks, and exemplary service should be recognized.

I hear lot of rattling about a bylaw amendment that would bring back term limits. It is, and always has been my opinion that we DON'T need term limits. Use your power of voting to choose the homeowner that you want to serve you at UCO. We should never restrict any one person from running.

I am sure everyone out there is tired of hearing that we need volunteers... but we do. If you can give one or two days and can operate a computer,

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Letter from PRPC Vice-President Regarding Delegates Meeting

The Editors of the UCO Reporter had the audacity to berate PRPC representatives for their questioning of the County officials at the November Delegates meeting. PRPC did not arrange for those officials to attend the meeting, however after they made their statements about the conditions of the golf course property, as the Vice President of PRPC I felt it was an opportunity for the residents in attendance at the Delegates meeting to know some facts.

The Editors comment in their article that it would have been a better idea to ask for an appointment should have checked their facts first to find that over the last many years there have been numerous meetings, e-mails and telephone calls with County Code Enforcement and other County Officials concerning the maintaining of this property. Code Enforcement was aware that 2 Public Hearings with Special Magistrates had determined that the entire property was to be maintained or the owner of the property would be fined. In fact this year the Director of Code Enforcement (who attended care to, but try to stifle others. the Delegates meeting) had issued a new violation stating the same determination for the entire property. the UCO Reporter, let's see if they have Why then isn't it happening?? That the professionalism to do so. was why I approached them for an answer. Honey Sager

The Editors stated it was confrontational on the part of PRPC to question their actions however, I had an opportunity to actually confront the County Attorney who attended our Delegates meeting as she had appeared at one of the meetings with a Special Magistrate and had agreed with their determination. I did not want to embarrass her in front of the Delegates so I did not do that. Unfortunately the constant changing of code regulations regarding this issue has been confusing at the least.

The Editors article about this issue is an unconscionable attack on PRPC whose only intent is to protect the health, welfare and life style of the residents of Century Village. As to the Editors opinions and comments about "Good of the Order", their statements are also an affront to the residents who try to present their issues at that portion of the meeting. Do the Editors not believe in giving the right of free speech? Do the Editors only want to hear issues that THEY agree with? I believe the Editors are taking advantage of their opportunity to print whatever they

Century Village is Changing All the Time

The letter in last month's UCO Reporter is not my words or thoughts. The author took one or two sentences and wrote a large misleading story. I believe Century Village WPB is different in population from when I moved here 15 years ago. Different is not a bad thing. Life is made of change. The village change is from our grounds to our population, which is a good thing. Let us grow and live.

Century Village to me, is a place where I can and do enjoy many friends and friendships, new and long standing. We have the opportunity to expand our activities in the many clubs and various cultural events and amenities. It's a wonderful place to live and spend your golden years.

Dr. Roni Stein

The UCO Reporter stands by the author and her story.

Here Come the Candidates

BY RUTH BERNHARD

It's that time of year once again when UCO delegates elect their officers and executive board members. Apologies for the conflicting instructions in the December issue of the Reporter. The e-mail address in the outline to be followed was in contradiction to the article by Anita Buchanan. The correct e-mail address for all bios is ruthphild@aol.com.

It is advantageous to the candidate to follow the outline in the December issue of the Reporter, Section A, Page 6, because it helps the reader to see at a glance what information would be helpful to them as delegate voters. Writing a bio in story form tends to present many more words than needed and the reader is apt not to read it at all because it is too wordy. This form has been used over the years and has proven to be a good form to follow for both the candidate and the Reporter when it is ready for publication.

Having said that, the headings in the bio outline form are:

- 🗸 Name
- ✓ Association Bldg. (no unit number, no telephone number)
- Office you are running for President, VP, Treasurer, Recording Secretary, Correspondence Secretary or Executive Board
- ✔ No. of Years in Century Village
- ✔ Dates
- ✔ Education
- ✓ Career Experience
- ✔ UCO/CV Experience

In order to run for office, you must spend at least 9 months of the year in residency here in Century Village.

Executive Board candidates are permitted 250-word bios. Officers are allowed some leeway, if needed. You may submit a photo if you have one, otherwise a Reporter photographer will take one after the meeting on Feb. 5th, the deadline for all bios, including those nominated from the floor. Electronic Voting Presentation at Delegate Assembly

BY DONALD FOSTER

At the December Delegate Assembly, Century Village Homeowners were introduced to Linda Gibbs, President of Honest Ballot Association, the New York based company that has been selected to administer the March, 2016 UCO Elections. Following her presentation, Ms. Gibbs answered questions about the new voting procedure, and stressed her company's non-partisan "hands off" policy for corporate voting, data security and auditable "paper trail" that will ensure accuracy and accountability. UCO President David Israel advised Delegates to review their Association's Delegate and Alternate Delegate lists before the March elections. On Election Day, voting will be on a "first come, first served" basis, and HBA will register and certify voting Delegates or Alternates as they present themselves.

* Studies conducted at University of Northern Colorado (2014) and Oldenburg Horzentrum (2013) showed that Speech Reception Thresholds (SRT) in cocktail-party situations improved up to 2.9dB for wearers with mild to moderate hearing loss using the latest BestSoundTM Technology with Narrow Directionality, compared to people with normal hearing. This corresponds to over 25% improvement in speech understanding.

Welcome Back, Get In Line

BY DOM GUARNAGIA

As we welcome our returning winter residents to Century Village, we find traffic backing up at both entrances with the occasional inability to make a left turn onto either the West Drive or the Haverhill Rd. entrance. Our new security guards are properly requesting your ID with a smile, whether you are a resident or you are a guest.

A large number of residents have put off acquiring a bar code decal, which would reduce the number of vehicles using the guardhouse lane.

Many of us enter the Village several times a day. Accidents occur when stagnant cars and drivers become aggravated and apprehensive, especially when crossing incoming vehicles while traversing traffic entering from the service road. A decal, quickly applied for at the UCO office for a one-time fee of five dollars ($5.00) will reduce much consternation. This is one small expense that will continue to expedite entering the Village for five years.

UCO is making a concerted effort to report street light outages. FPL, however, will respond only when there are ten or more lights out. Please be aware that using your high beams when approaching an oncoming vehicle can be blinding for the other driver. Common courtesy requires drivers to lower their high beams until the approaching vehicle passes. Observing the speed limit (25 MPH) will reduce the need to see further than the low beams can illuminate. Be safe and sensible and enjoy the holidays. Happy New Year.

Programs at the CENTURY VILLAGE CLUBHOUSE THEATER are something to look forward to each new season. The folks who produce our shows have always come up with winners, and this year we're surely off to a really good start.

THE NATIONAL CIRCUS AND ACROBATS, direct from Beijing, had the audience lustily cheering the young Chinese performers.. Indeed, their acts were wonderful. I seldom use the word "wonderful" to describe theater performances. Used often, it has become trite. But I'm using the word in its original sense: While watching the onstage doings, I wondered, "How do they do that?"

For instance, two fellows, one dressed in a white suit and wearing a white hat, the other garbed in simple black clothes, standing roughly ten feet apart, began throwing wooden juggler's sticks at each other. Then, not missing a beat, not dropping a stick, they began taking off their clothes. Hat, jackets, pants, shirts were removed until the two stood in their underwear. As they juggled, they managed to hang the other's clothes on heavy, long clothes racks. Still juggling, they changed position, the clothes racks getting tossed to the other mixed in with the sticks. Then they redressed, continuing to juggle, not missing a beat, not dropping a stick until both had completely buttoned shirts, zipped pants and now stood facing the audience with smiles on their faces. How could viewers not cheer?

But I can answer my own question. They do that because of years of practice and discipline. They start when they are just kids and keep at it. I trust that everyone has seen jugglers. But there's more to it here: Greater coordination is needed for a juggler who works with a partner. What truly separates an act like this from others is the impeccable teamwork.

What I've described was but one act among many. These acrobats formed a large troupe. Costumes of both the handsome boys and the lovely girls were mostly distinctively Chinese and colorful. Silk garments of blue and gold adorned the girls, although their bright red clothing was most memorable.

The girl's acts were also wonderful. At one point, they formed a human pyramid. All had parasols, which they whirled about. But the top girl, upside down, whirled parasols with both hands and feet. She was so high above the stage floor, her foot parasols for a moment appeared to touch the stage's ceiling. Merely to get down from atop such a pyramid without anyone getting hurt requires a team effort. One certainly has to cheer and applaud that!

There was much more: The Clubhouse presented a terrific show. "Terrific": Isn't that another of those overused words? Maybe, but still, I truly enjoyed the Chinese Acrobats!

Several days later to the Clubhouse Theatre came THE BEST OF BROADWAY - THE MUSIC OF ANDREW LLOYD WEBBER, which starred four fine performers. The show opened with several selections from Jesus Christ, Superstar and proceeded on to Joseph and His Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat. The highlights of course came from Evita and The Phantom of the Opera.

The Phantom of this presentation had a voice that ranges from countertenor, which is close to soprano, to a low tenor or even, a bass. Additionally, he was a good actor. The pretty blond soprano acted well: Her rendition of "Don't Cry for Me, Argentina" caught every dramatic highlight of the piece. The chemistry between this couple was charming to see.

But I have a suggestion to make: The presenters of a show of this type should offer a program. Even if it's only one page with the artists' names printed on it, that would be helpful. I cannot name the artists here. Their names were spoken, but the performers were unknown to me, and I cannot, nor can many in the rest of the audience, completely tell how special they are until we know who they are!

Anyway, we appreciated the show and look forward again to returning to the Clubhouse Theater for more Century Village entertainment!

The CATCH-22 for Security Guards And how you can help

BY LANNY HOWE

I don't think it's easy being a security guard at the gates to a community like ours, especially if you are conscientious about your work.

We want our guards to check visitors thoroughly, and at the same time we don't like to wait in long lines. This is a Catch-22 because it takes a little more time to be thorough, and taking a little more time often means longer lines unless you have extra help immediately at hand.

I have never been a security guard, but I can imagine what often happens. A guard who has been doing a good job of checking people coming in finds himself with a long line of cars. His superior criticizes him and says, "Get this line moving!" The guard does it in the only way possible, by not being as thorough. When this happens a few times, the guard says to himself, "What is the point of being thorough? I only get in trouble for it, so forget this thoroughness business. I'll pay lip service to it and just be thorough once in awhile." Soon he is on the road to taking no pride in his work and not liking his job. Multiply this by two dozen employees and you may have found part of the reason why gated communities so often change security companies.

So what's the solution? Surely part of the solution lies with the security for their service so they can pay their employees more.

But there is another way in which we can all help, which Jody Lebel made clear in her December Reporter article on the new Platinum Security Company:

It's the lack of following visitor protocol by the residents that ties up the gate line.... a lot of effort is spent trying to determine just who the visitor is coming in to see. Often guests don't have an address or even the right spelling of the last name of the person they are visiting. Once that is established, and that takes time, the guard must call the resident and get permission for the guest to enter. All the while lines of cars are backing up out to Okeechobee and Haverhill Road.

If you possibly can, call in your guest using the call-in number: 689-1759. Say the name slowly and clearly, and remember to call in tradespeople as well, either by name or their business or both. Please note: Guests can be called in the day before the day they are expected. And make sure people you are calling in know your address, because that is the primary way they will be listed on the computer at the guard station.

Let's help Platinum Security company having sufficient personnel make life simpler for their guards on hand, paying them a decent wage, and not a Catch-22. The beneficiaries and being able to move them about. will be ourselves and our guests, and Our part in this? To pay a little more it will help keep down the long lines.

Why should we vote? Consider the alternatives.

While it's true that the average American lifestyle has become more hectic than that of our parents' generation, that's no reason to skip out on your civic duty and not exercise your right to vote, a prized privilege that people in other countries fight for. Nowadays we're very inventive when we need an excuse to stay home on election day: It's a hassle; I don't like lines; There's rain in the forecast; I don't like politics; I don't like anybody who's running; My favorite TV show is on. Don't you find it disturbing that this generation doesn't mind that our leaders are being chosen by someone else? If you don't vote for what you believe in, others will do it for you and you may not like the outcome. Look around at your neighbors. Which one are you going to let make the choice for you? And when you don't participate you have effectively taken away your right to complain (something everyone loves to do) with integrity. Bad officials are elected by good citizens who don't vote. Welcome to the Karma Café, folks. There are no menus. Everyone gets what they deserve.

BY JODY LEBEL

According to Luke Rosiak of the Washington Times, the turnout for the 2012 presidential primary was the lowest on record, at 15.9 percent of eligible citizens. Millions of votes were lost. What if you were suddenly told you could not vote this year, that your right to vote had been taken away? You wouldn't like that for certain. There would be picketing and angry citizens marching with signs saying Give us the vote! We have rights! Where is that passion on election day? Don't you deserve a say in who your choices will be in the presidential race in November? It is one said, and it is true, that we build our gets nation with votes, one vote at a time. Women suffragettes were jailed and force fed for three weeks, all for the right to vote. It is a freedom that your forefathers fought for, yet you can't get yourself off the couch? Voting is a way to speak your mind and let your voice be heard. When we vote, we are telling elected officials and law makers how we feel about education, public safety, social security, health care, and other important issues. It is an unfortunate truth that politicians will sometimes look at voter turnout before making key policy decisions. If a certain demographic turnout is high, then politicians may be more likely to make policy that benefits that demographic in order to please them subsequently and retain their support. Voting often changes communities.Do you ever wonder why we can actually see.

One voice, one vote, really does count. There is power in numbers, and when we vote and get our family members to vote, we can truly make a difference. It was through elections that we voted in officials who were

THE STORIED LIFE OF A.J. FIKRY BY GABRIELLE ZEVIN

Books

I'm always wary of books with a lot of hype even if they sound good. Most of the time I end up not liking them very much and I stop reading them after 50 pages. But reading a book about a bookstore and books and the people who love them seemed like a can't-miss proposition to me. The Storied Life of A.J. Fikry by Gabrielle Zevin is just such a book.

A.J. is the depressed, recently widowed owner of an independent bookstore on island off an the coast of Massachusetts. His sales are down, and a valuable first edition book has been stolen. was surprised to discover early on that Fikry is so young to be so bitter - 39 years old. His life changes when someone leaves a precious bundle in the bookstore for him – a little girl. There are two people who turn his quiet life upside down - Amelia, the persistent sales rep from Knightley Press, and Maya, the toddler who is abandoned in his Island Books one day and worms her way into A.J.'s heart and home. We watch as Maya grows and thrives, and A.J.'s life continues to get better and better. The characters were very likable. The relationships between them endearing. Even the ones that weren't very nice, you somehow couldn't help but feel for them too.

The literary references are great. Each chapter is introduced with a brief note about a given short story, many of which I've read. There is something for everyone: love, friendship, sorrow, romance, laughter, unforgettable characters and writing that sparkles. This book tells about the importance of reading—something dear to my heart. There is grief—something that I am all too familiar with—and overcoming it (done that too).

This is a quick, sweet and very funny story. This book was a pure delight. It probably won't change your life, but it will definitely brighten your day.3.5 stars There's nothing cozier to me than books about books. And this one is especially cozy. Featuring a small town island bookshop, quirky regulars, and an abandoned lovable child - it has everything you'd want from a book like this. I especially enjoyed the literary references, for such a small book it's packed with them - and it's always fun (and admittedly satisfying) to recognize subtle book references.

This book probably won't change your life, but it will definitely brighten your day. It's a short thing, but it moves fast, which is part of the problem if you're going to pick it apart. I didn't feel like I had my time with the characters. I guess when I started the story I didn't expect it to move so swiftly. And in doing so the character development seems either suddenly revealed or not there at all.

While this book may at times be light - it has some important messages. It's a book that you will want to pass on to a friend when they need it.

What's in a NAME?

Everything if you're in the back of an ambulance.

BY JODY LEBEL

You'd best be aware that the hospital facility formerly known as the Columbia Hospital, the very same one that changed its name to West Palm Hospital in 2012 "to better reflect the community it serves" according to Dana Oaks, then CEO, is now scheduled to become JFK Medical Center's North Campus in April of 2016. This third name change in four years is being called a branding move designed to capitalize on the "highly recognized footprint" of the JFK Medical Center. Located at 45th Street and Congress in West Palm Beach, the 245-bed hospital is owned by Nashville-based Hospital Corp. of America. HCA officials say the combined facilities (the other hospital being JFK Medical Center in Atlantis) will provide 717 beds between the two campuses. It is their assertion that the blending of these two properties will encompass nearly every medical specialty known, such as Cardiac, Neurosciences, Orthopedics, Robotics, and Oncology to name a few, and will efficiently meet the needs of patients throughout Palm Beach County.

The hospital was not originally named Columbia. A February 11th, 1994, Palm Beach Post article reported that shareholders approved a merger between Columbia Healthcare Corp. and Hospital Corp. and at that time the hospital was called Palm Beaches Medical Center and was owned by Columbia. It was renamed following the merger but in 2000 the parent company dropped "Columbia" from its name.

Is this facility the red-headed stepchild of Palm Beach County? This time it is joining what its owners say will be the largest medical center in Palm Beach County. It is reported that currently West Palm Hospital has a medical staff of 350 and 600 workers. JFK will celebrate their 50th anniversary in 2016. Let's hope their newest baby isn't put up for adoption again any time soon.

Climate What? BY ANDRÉ LEGAULT

The term "climate warming" was coined by Professor Wallace Broeker half a century ago. In 2003, Frank Luntz, a Republican consultant, suggested the term "climate change." This satisfied deniers because change can be up or down.

When we look at current events such as the annual rise in global temperatures, the melting of ancient arctic glaciers, the rising sea levels, severe floods and droughts, a more fitting term would be "climate disruption." While we spend money desperately trying to find life on Mars, more money is being spent destroying life on earth. If we fail to act forcefully to reduce human activities that are increasing C02 and other forms of pollution, our grandchildren will end up using terms like "climate destruction" and "climate collapse." These apocalyptic labels also come to mind when, in the search engine of a computer, we type and read on the issue of Arctic methane release.

What is most vulnerable in this environment of "climate disruption"? Surprisingly, we don't have to be concerned with saving the planet. The planet will be OK with or without humans. It has adapted to extreme weather changes, the impact of meteorites and solar winds. Dinosaurs were less fortunate. Humans like other species can disappear and the planet would adapt. Filling the void, perhaps a more intelligent and responsible species will wonder why we caused our planet to become inhospitable and eventually inhabitable for life as we know it now. The planet doesn't need humans. Humans need the planet.

All is not lost. My country, Canada, must leave its tar sands where they belong, in the ground. The Paris Conference on the environment, attended by more than 147 world leaders in early December, reached some pollution level reduction objectives. In the American school system the Next Generation Science Standards developed by scientists and education experts in 2013 is accepted in 26 states. One of its emphases is on "human activities, such as the release of greenhouse gases from burning fossil fuels--a major factor in the current rise in Earth's mean temperature."

A dialogue with our children and grandchildren on this matter would be beneficial and also remembered. Our children stand to inherit a worldwide climate disruption by the actions of previous generations. They need to understand how the changes happened, how to mitigate them and Quel climat ?

PAR ANDRÉ LEGAULT

Le terme "réchauffement climatique" a été choisi par le professeur Wallace Brooker il y a un demisiècle. En 2003, Frank Luntz, un consultant républicain suggéra le terme "changement climatique" à la satisfaction de ceux qui nient le réchauffement. Le changement peut être en plus ou en moins.

Lorsque l'on considère les événements récents: les hausses des températures moyennes, la fonte des glaciers de l'Arctique, la hausse du niveau de la mer, les inondations et les sécheresses importantes, le terme "bouleversement climatique" serait plus approprié. Alors que l'on dépense de l'argent pour trouver désespérément de la vie sur Mars, on dépense davantage pour détruire la vie sur terre. Sans solutions convaincantes visant la réduction d'activités humaines qui contribuent à la croissance du C02 ainsi qu'à la réduction d'autres polluants, nos petits-enfants utiliseront des termes comme "la destruction climatique" et "l'effondrement climatique". Ces étiquettes apocalyptiques viennent aussi à l'esprit lorsque sur un moteur de recherche de notre ordinateur, on fait la lecture d'un sujet comme "Méthane: le dégel de l'Arctique".

Qui est vulnérable dans cet environnement de "bouleversement climatique" ? On n'a pas à se préoccuper de notre planète. Elle survivra avec ou sans humains. Elle s'est adaptée à des changements climatiques extrêmes, aux impacts de météorites et aux vents solaires. Les dinosaures ont été moins chanceux. Les humains comme d'autres êtres vivants peuvent disparaitre et notre planète s'adaptera. Pour combler le vide, une espèce plus intelligente doivent comprendre comment ces et responsable se demandera perturbations se sont produites, pourquoi notre planète est devenue comment les atténuer et les empêcher. inhospitalière et inhabitable au soutien de la vie comme nous la connaissons maintenant. La planète n'a pas besoin des humains. Les humains ont besoin de la planète.

Les américains représentent 5% de la population mondiale mais consomment 24% de l'énergie mondiale. (statistique de 2008)

En moyenne, un américain consomme autant d'énergie que:

- 2 japonais 6 mexicains
- 13 chinois
- 31 indiens
- 128 bangladais

Tout n'est pas perdu. Le Canada, mon pays, doit laisser les sables bitumineux là où ils se trouvent, dans le sol. Le mois dernier, la Conférence de Paris sur l'environnement, laquelle regroupait plus de 147 chefs d'État dégagea des objectifs visant la réduction des niveaux de pollution. Un programme scolaire américain "Les standards de science de la prochaine génération" développé par des scientistes et des éducateurs en 2013 est accepté dans 23 États américains. Un de ces objectifs porte sur "les activités humaines comme les gaz à effet de serre provenant des carburants fossiles, ayant un impact majeur sur la hausse de la température moyenne de la terre".

Un dialogue avec nos enfants et nos petits-enfants serait de mise. Les enfants hériteront des perturbations climatiques causées par les générations précédentes. Ils

ALREADY BROKEN?

BY JODY LEBEL

Oh, those tricky New Years resolutions. They're as much of a tradition as watching the ball drop. And speaking of dropping the ball, I didn't think Times Square during New Years could get more aggravating ... then someone created the "selfie stick." Nevertheless, year after year we continue to make lists and fool ourselves in the hopes that this New Years will be different. Unfortunately, the only thing that really is different is the year. Maybe we should just write out everything we did at the holiday party and add the word "stop" to the beginning of each line.

New Year's resolutions are so futile. You make them, you break them; by February you're ripping that list off your fridge in embarrassment. So, what if next year we were to make resolutions that actually had a chance at surviving? For example let's take the tired old one where we promise to lose 15 pounds and change it to: Donuts are good for you, eat a lot of them. Yeah, that'll work out much better. Or how about the one where we promise to get eight hours of sleep every night and wake refreshed and ready for the day? Hah! New resolution: I'm going to hit the snooze button until it breaks. Now we're talking. How about the one where we promise to be kinder to everyone? You know that's not going to happen so give yourself permission to yell at that old woman driving slow in the fast lane even though she's 107 and probably doesn't even know that she's driving. There's one you can stick to.

Start buying lottery tickets at a luckier store. This just makes sense.

Never again take a sleeping pill and a laxative on the same night. Not that I ever did that mind you. Nuff said.

Promise to not play with your face in the car. (We can see you.)

Give an oath to finish a Chapstick. All the way. Right to the bottom. Although, you should feel proud if you managed to hold on to that sucker for the better part of six months. In fact you should get a medal.

Affirm to fill up your gas tank all the way. Ooo, a tough one for sure. Get yourself out of the "I-might-runout-of-gas" spectrum. I'm not sure about you, but filling up my gas tank - all the way - at least once this year would be a true feat.

Swear to keep a plant alive. Brown isn't very becoming. That's pretty much all I have to say about that.

Give your word to separate your colors from your whites. Such an adult thing to do. Makes me wonder why I never do it. Maybe because washing one white t-shirt and six pairs of socks by themselves seems silly.

What about the dog slobber left on the floor? Didn't think about that, did you?

Don't save your fortune cookie message and put it in your wallet like it means something real. And those numbers on the back? Ditto.

Resolve to not be conned by that two AM infomercial. It's a sales pitch, all right? It's not the best kept secret that only you found because you happened to be up at that hour. Put your credit card away. Don't be taken. Unless it's a Prada bag or something. In that case order two.

Buy your next year's holiday decorations and cards the day after this year's holiday and get 50% off. This might be a tough one because by this time there's never any money left and you're loath to use your gift cards for anything but some new golf clubs. To accomplish this one you might have to give up, say, bread and milk for the week. Part B is: Swear you will not store your sweet discounted stash somewhere and then next year forget you have it.

And lastly here's one we can all get behind: promise to walk, wherever you're walking, without staring at, using, or listening to your phone. This goes double in the grocery store. If you're not part of the solution, you're part of the problem. Your zombie-walking ways are causing accidents, self-imposed injuries, and annoyed citizens. And you look really dumb. So, there you have it. Resolutions that will work if you're brave enough to buck the tide and make them. Sure, your friends will laugh at you but your list will still be under that magnet on the door while theirs will be just a sad memory. You know you're not going to lose those 15 pounds. Have a second slice of pie. Happy New Year!

BY MILTON COHEN

On Thursday, November 26th the Social Village Singles Club hosted the Thanksgiving Day Dinner and Dance in the club house party room.

Entertainment was enjoyed by all as once again Kat Tony Tiger was at the helm. (Thanks and kudos go out to Tony Junior) for his selections of some of the music.

Unfortunately some of the people who tried to purchase tickets at the last minute were shut out. (People, you can't wait until the last minute to decide if you are going or not). I am sorry but the caterer had to have a count of people attending for the food preparation and for them to purchase . Nanas Restaurant pulled out all the stops to make the night successful. The food was plentiful, both hot and good. To date I have heard nothing but good things about the dinner.

I would be remiss if I didn't thank some of our club members for their assistance, my sister Zena Nittle, a friend Carolyn Pilchick, VP's Mimi and Jeanine, Milton Seltzer, Diana Rose, and most of all the Bible study group who always pitch in and help. Thank you to all. A special thanks to my wife Randi for her invaluable assistance and especially for putting up with me.

I want to also thank some of the businesses for their door prize donations: Longhorn Restaurant, Royal Subs for 4 donations, Island Jack for 4 donations, Tippies Pizza, Pizza Roma, Abes Cleaners on Haverhill, and Kat Physical Therapy. There were plenty of door prizes. Remember these are the people who support us so do the same (let them know that you appreciate their assistance). To those who attended, thank you all!

Okay, I'm on a roll here. Here's a few more worth considering.

Swear you will actually read the manual ... just as soon as you can find it.

Pledge to not send a text to someone sitting in the next room... or the same room. Try parting your lips and making word sounds. It really works.

Promise to try taking a selfie that looks like a picture of an actual person. I mean some kind of seminormal pose that's not half a face, or looking up your nose, or your lips wrinkled up like you ate a lemon and we can see your one chin hair sticking straight out. Also no one really believes you were standing with Harrison Ford, so give it up.

Attest that you will not let your dog be your vacuum. As easy as it is to drop food around the kitchen and then call out for your best friend to do the dirty work, you shouldn't.

LOCAL DINING CLEMATIS STREET EATS

BY LENORE VELCOFF

These five downtown restaurants are each very different. They range from an American grill to a French, Italian, Japanese, Thai and Hispanic eateries. The prices are high to moderate and the service is excellent at all of them. The food critic from the Palm Beach Post calls these her favorites.

Hullabaloo is an upscale pub with unusual pizzas such as spinach, roasted garlic, asiago, provolone and smoked gouda cheeses and roasted mushroom, gouda, goat cheese, as three fish dishes $22-24 - pastas inc. potato gnocchi with veal pork ragu and short rib ravioli-$15-25. For the adventurous appetite, try it. Hullabaloo: 517 Clematis St., West Palm Beach; 561-833-1033.

Pistache is a French bistro and a true gem. It is a welcoming spot that's as ideal for casual cocktails, date-night dinner and for a la carte Sunday brunch. And when those cravings for steak frites hit, there's no better fix - and no better service. onions and honey -$14 each as well Other specials include WILD

IDAHO TROUT at $27.00 Grilled, Brussels Sprouts, Fennel. Lardons, Sage, Chestnut, Beurre Sauce Rouge, GRILLED CHICKEN PAILLARD at $18.50 with Arugula, Cherry Tomatoes, Shaved Parmesan, Lemonette Dressing and HUDSON VALLEY DUCK at $29.00 withTruffled Polenta, Spinach, Sweet Cherry Sauce. A Special Occasion place - pricey. Pistache: 101 N Clematis St #115, West Palm Beach; 561-833-5090.

Avocado Grill

This menu (lunch) has small plates (Beet Salad $9, Stuffed Crispy Zucchini Blossoms $12, Octopus $15). Sandwiches range from Chicken Salad $12, Mahi Wrap $14 and Lamb Sliders $6 each as well as Tacos (Duck $12 and Fish $13. The food is as pretty to look at as it is tasty to eat.

Avocado Grill: 125 Datura St., West Palm Beach; 561-623-0822.

Kabuki Sushi and Thai Tapas

There's a good reason why this eatery is busy - it offers a menu of Japanese and Thai specialties, from sushi rolls to pad Thai to curry dishes. Lunch entrees are served with miso soup or house salad and choice of chicken | beef | pork | tofu | vegetables $8 or shrimp $9 -stir-fry, thai tropical, garlic sauce, buddha's delight and several others. Very reasonable and really good.

Kabuki: 308 Clematis St., West Palm Beach; 561-833-6349

Rocco's Tacos

This, the original Rocco's location, serves a to-die-for Benedict variation on its Sunday Brunch, the Benedict Azteca (poached eggs in masa sopes, pork, salsa roja, spinach, chipotlelaced crema and Mexican potatoes) $13.00 as well Huevos En Cazuela $14, eggs on black beans with cheese and choice of meats in a skillet, Huevos Rancheros Divorciados $13.00, sunny side up eggs on tostados etc. and Huevos Ahoghada Con Shortribs $13.00 poached eggs on short ribs, etc. Did I mention you need to come here hungry?

Rocco's Tacos: 224 Clematis St., West Palm Beach; 561-650-100

Clang, Clang, Clang Goes The Trolley!

BY BOBBI LEVIN

There is a lot to see and do right here in West Palm Beach. Unfortunately, getting around town by car during "the season" can be difficult; parking spaces are hard to find and road closures seem to pop up in unexpected locations. Why not use the city's free trolleys to get you where you want to go quickly and economically? Downtown West Palm Beach now has four trolley routes to help us get around town. We can use them to run errands, to shop, to go to a restaurant, or to attend a special event. The trolleys make getting around downtown West Palm Beach a breeze. I have found the drivers to be friendly and informative. The retro-style trolleys move at a leisurely pace giving passengers time to spot new locations to visit. And it is fun to interact with other passengers who very often are visiting from foreign countries. The YELLOW LINE connects the Kravis Centre, City Place, and the Clematis Street district. Daily service begins at 11 a.m. and trolleys run every 15 minutes. Very often, I park in the City Place Garage (the first hour is free) and hop on a trolley outside Macy's. I hop off near the Mandel Public Library and spend a few hours at a class or lecture. Then I board another trolley and ride further down Clematis Street to my favorite French bistro. After lunch, and a gander at the mega yachts moored in the marina, I board another trolley back for some shopping at Macy's. Thanks to the City of West Palm Beach, I spent a lovely day without my car. The GREEN LINE runs from the Tri-Rail Station to Downtown with stops along Datura, Evernia, Dixie and Okeechobee. This line is used primarily by commuters and students and hopefully will benefit downtown business and employers. The BLUE LINE runs from Downtown to Northwood Village and the Palm Beach Outlet Center. It runs Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays between 11 a.m. and 10 p.m. with pick-ups every 30 minutes. Parking spaces are usually easy to find in Northwood Village, a vibrant and funky neighborhood filled with offbeat shops, galleries and restaurants. My friends are always intrigued by the bohemian vibe of this little corner of WPB. After lunch, we hop on a trolley to the Outlet Mall on Palm Beach Lakes Boulevard. The free trolley means you can avoid the hassle of finding a parking space in the mall.

The ORANGE LINE is the Arts and Entertainment District trolley. It makes stops at the County History Museum, the Norton Museum, the Society of the Four Arts and the Flagler Museum. It runs on Fridays and Saturdays between noon and 5 p.m. with pick-ups scheduled every 60 minutes. I suggest visiting the Norton on a Saturday when admission is free to West Palm Beach residents. After admiring the international treasures on display, hop on a trolley and take a relaxing ride over to the History Museum on Dixie where local treasures are on display. Again, thanks to the free West Palm Beach trolleys, I am able to visit all areas of the city without my car.

Martin Luther King, Jr.: What Went Wrong?

BY IRVING RIKON

On January 15 America honors the birthday of Martin Luther King, Jr. Born in 1929, the Baptist Minister and most renowned of Civil Rights leaders was only 39 years old when he was assassinated in 1968.

What separated Martin Luther King, Jr. from his peers in the restless 1960s was his belief in and the constant preaching of the Biblical dictum to love one's neighbors as one's self. Firmly holding to the idea that all people are created equal, he only slightly rephrased that thought in his famous "I have a dream" speech. He was also influenced by India's Mahatma Gandhi, who in his lifetime advocated non-violence as a means of affecting social change and who, in his death, likewise was killed by an assassin.

The general public was revolted by Dr. King's killing. Much had already been accomplished. In 1954 the Supreme Court outlawed segregated public education. In 1964 broad Civil Rights laws were passed forbidding all official segregation. Perhaps there might be a backlash following Dr. King's death, so that more of what he was attempting to achieve would in fact happen?

It didn't quite work out that way. Although many people of color are better offsocially and financially than they were, others have not entered the American mainstream. To argue, as some do, that white prejudice has operated against blacks in America is in the main untrue. Whites joined blacks to vote for a black President, Barack Hussein Obama, and they did it twice. A black man sits on the Supreme Court. Blacks represent constituents in Congress. All walks of economic and social life have black participants. Dr. King, were he alive today, would be astonished at the progress made in American society, some of it due to his work and inspiring words.

But as seen from several recent sensationalized media headlines, there remain black-white tensions, if not conflict. Why? What went wrong? Honestly, we're all to blame. Few of us have worked hard enough to make the wrongs right. Martin Luther King, Jr. was a great moral leader. In many ways, the nation's morals have not kept up with his ideals. It's good that at least one day of the year we remember those ideals and note they can yet become reality if all Americans join together to make it so. Yes, "Black lives matter." But how much better to proclaim, "ALL lives matter!" I'm certain that is what Dr. King would have said. It's essentially that which he preached.

Insurance

BY TONI SALOMETO

Congratulations to You!!!

As I've gone around the Village the last month or so, many people have stopped to congratulate me. I appreciate the sentiments, but I wish I could take all the credit. A lot of different things happened and a lot of people contributed to our 2016 Insurance renewal. Not the least of those are the unit owners and Boards of many of the Associations.

How and why were we able to deliver property renewals with more coverage and also larger price reductions? There are a number of factors. The most important is that there has been no major weather factors that have caused wide spread damage. We haven't had a hurricane of any significance in the last ten years and there have also been no major tornados or earthquakes in the US this year. Remember that most insurance companies reinsure there larger losses and since there have been no large losses; there is an abundance of reinsurance available for writing business. The more reinsurance available, the less expensive it is.

Another factor that influenced our renewal this year was the entry of another insurance carrier in the marketplace. It's like buying a new car. If the only vehicle in the market is Ford and you need a new car, than you have no choice but to buy a Ford. New carriers offer competition, which is always good for the consumer.

This year, the new carrier in the insurance market is Heritage. The company started as a take-out company of Citizens and with good planning decided to enter the commercial property market. For those of you lucky enough to have had an opportunity to attend the Insurance/Agency Presentation on December 3rd, they would have had an chance to hear Randy Jones, the President of Heritage's Commercial Insurance speak about the formation of the company, and how they came to insure Century Village, UCO/ Brown & Brown program.

Mr. Jones was complementary of the efforts we had made to reduce losses and that we had a system for providing services to our Associations. This is where your individual efforts have been so effective. We were able this year to increase the percentage of Law and Ordinance coverage from 10% to 20% and to increase our bottomline hurricane deductible from 3% to 2%. As you're all aware, since our units are 40+ years old, having Law & Ordinance coverage is a must. In these 40 years, the building codes have been revised and what was appropriate in 1971 is no longer applicable in 2015. Any major loss will require updates that you will have to pay out of your own pocket.

With market changes and your own care, you also saw a significant reduction in your premiums, with an increase in your coverage, folks, a win-win. As I said in the beginning, Congratulations!!!

I wish you all a Happy, Healthy New Year.

Maintenance

By Dom Guarnagia TWO CONDO SAFETY MEASURES TO THINK ABOUT

As residents living within a retirement community, we are surrounded by things that we either did not need when we were younger or that are now required by the Building Code. Some are conveniences that make life safer, especially for the elderly. Some may have been merely suggested when Century Village was constructed under a less stringent Building Code. Following are two such health and safety items:

Appliances used near a water source:

Electric razors, hair dryers, curling irons, broiler ovens and other appliances that are operated in close proximity to a water source--for example, a sink--can include you as a more convenient path for electric current to go to ground.

To explain, current flows from positive to ground. If you are too close to a water source, for instance standing on a wet floor in front of your electric washer, the current can take a shortcut to ground using your body as the path of least resistance. Your heart is not then capable of beating at a normal rate, and the result could be either a stoppage of the heart rhythm or a burn to the body part in contact with the ground source, the puddle.

To prevent this, today's electrical code requires that any duplex outlet within six (6) feet of a sink must be a Ground Fault Circuit Interrupter (GFCI) device--20 amp for kitchens bathrooms. and The electric connections are identical and require no change in wiring. The GFCI outlet devices can be purchased at the large box home supply stores and installed by any handy person-after the electric service in the circuit breaker panel is in the OFF position. A rubber pad, placed in front of the washing machine could be used to prevent grounding, but the GFCI device is best. If it trips, there is a reset button, usually red, that will allow the appliance to resume working.

professionally! When a bathroom is created or remodeled, wood blocking is installed behind the wall to be used for fastening items such as grab bars. A professional carpenter can secure the new bars to the wood blocking so the force applied to them doesn't pull them out of the wall.

We have come this far to enjoy our well-deserved retirement. Don't let an avoidable accident cut that time short.

Safety

By George Franklin

Hi folks, and a Happy, Healthy New Year to everyone! Just a few things that I am going to touch on here this month, the first being TRAFFIC problems. We have, now that we are in season, exploded with visitors to our area. Many are not familiar with the area and don't make good decisions when driving. Just a good tip... If you see the vehicle in front of you has an out-of-state license tag, give it room. Don't follow closely. You don't know if they are aware of their surroundings, and they may make a sudden turn or stop, leaving you in a bad position and causing an accident. YOU would be responsible in the eyes of the law.

Also for those new to the area, do vou know that IT IS THE FLORIDA LAW when raining to put your headlights on? You may receive a summons if you don't adhere to this law. Also PBSO deputies are in the Village due to the large number of traffic complaints being registered lately. Traffic tickets ARE now being given out. NO MORE WARNINGS! Please obey speed limits and stop signs! Because of the recent terror incidents in Paris, Colorado and California, the UCO Safety Committee has arranged for the United States Department of Justice to present a seminar titled "Active Shooter Response." This is a very important seminar! The presentation will consist of a video of an actual incident, hands-on instruction and also instruction on what to do and not do if an incident should occur here. A question and answer period will also be held. Don't miss this important program!

Transportation

I know I am getting to sound like a parent who would say, "How many times do I have to tell you to do this?" BUT: if you don't submit a completed complaint form, there is nothing I can do to remedy the situation. My committee always reports to me the various conversations they overhear on the buses. However, we can't respond to gossip. I must have a completed form in order to take any action.

I also have heard that some riders are very rude to each other. There was also an incident where a rider threw a seat belt buckle at another rider. If you witness any problem on the bus, you must report it to the driver when the bus stops and ask him to file an incident report.

We now have many riders who are in various stages of dementia and Alzheimer's disease. They are confused about where they are going, what bus to take, and how to get home among other things. Please alert the driver to ask their name and fill out a report. We are always concerned with their safety. No baby carriages will be permitted on the bus. Children must be 16 years old and have a pass from WPRF before they will be allowed to ride the bus alone.

The Transportation Committee will be dissolved in March along with all UCO Committees. We will be seeking new members who ride the bus. Please apply; the forms are available at the UCO Office. We are always trying to improve our transportation system.

NEW OFFICE HOURS FOR THE

Grab bars:

Whether you bathe in a tub or wash in a shower stall, there is the dilemma of having something convenient to hold onto when going in, sitting and rising or exiting. Grab Bars, 1-1/4" diameter stainless steel, smooth or textured, 12"-36" long, and rounded top and bottom answer this need. Terminating with a round plate and fasteners installed to withstand several hundred pounds of resistance, they provide considerable security. But there is one caveat: They must be installed

Transgender

BY LENORE VELCOFF

Caitlyn Jenner's visibility has made the topic less taboo and most of us have added a new word to our vocabulary - transgender. Just as we have accepted that being gay is not something that one chooses, neither does a male or female choose their gender identity. Back in the 1970's, Renee Richards underwent maleto-female sex reassignment surgery and through her fight to play tennis as a woman, challenged gender roles and became a role model and spokesperson for the transgender community. Today we learn that some young people feel that they have the wrong sexual identity by three or four years old. Medical science has taught us that gender is not just male or female. There are hermaphrodites who are born with both female and male sex organs. Most of these babies have surgery shortly after birth. So why are we talking about this now. A TV show called "I AM JAZZ" tells the story of a girl who is transgender. It interviews her family, parents, siblings and grandparents. How would you react? Think about it.

fashion show was put on by the Fashion Industry High School with transgender students modeling the clothes designed by one of their own. Many of the homeless teenagers in New York City are transgender because they have been abandoned by their families and have turned to drugs, alcohol and prostitution. Too many youths come out to family members only to face rejection, hatred, and violence. Those facing the most extreme levels of family rejection and maltreatment are often use the pronoun the persons use to describe themselves, he or she. Next, remember that until the transformation is complete, the youth are allowed to use the bathroom with which they are most comfortable. Other students don't find that a problem, only their parents do. Remember, they don't choose their gender. Sometimes nature makes the wrong choice. The Equality Act of 2015 is currently in Congress and supported by President Obama. This sweeping act would amend sexual orientation or gender identity. Please read about The Equality Act and consider contacting your local Congresspeople to encourage them to vote for it. If you want more information, you can go on-line to PFLAG and download their new publication OUR TRANS LOVED ONES for free. For those who are interested, this new publication includes first-person stories, expert input and more.

Above all, please remember, this is not a choice. It is an act of self-

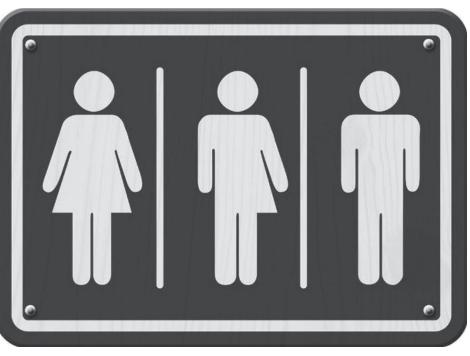

The Manhattan Student Services and the New York City school district just held the first transgender youth conference in New York State. A forced out of their homes, or will run away, becoming homeless or entering the foster care system. Here are some statistics:

◆ There are nearly 700,000 transgender individuals in the U.S. or 0.3% of the adult population.

- Of those who identify as transgender, a majority have taken some steps to transition from one gender to another.
- An unknown number of transgender individuals also identify as gay, lesbian or bi-sexual so there is some overlap.

What can our generation do to help transgender people survive and thrive in today's world? First,

OPINION

BY LINDA GRAFF

When I became a full time resident of Century Village, I immediately felt welcomed. I made friends, became involved in the many social activities and clubs that are available here, and I enjoy the amenities very much.

I also made it my business to give back - to volunteer some of my time and effort to the community that had so welcomed me. At UCO, I was assigned to work at the reception desk where I was trained to greet and direct visitors and manage incoming phone calls. I have worked in service professions throughout my life; it was my pleasure to perform this job professionally and with a smile. I enjoyed meeting and working with my neighbors.

Imagine my surprise, when I showed up at UCO for my scheduled work day and was told that, "The snowbirds are back." My services were no longer needed. I was told that I could reapply for my job in May. In other words, I was fired. Eventually, to be in the office (a new volunteer was already sitting in my seat), I left. I had nothing else scheduled for that morning, so I went home. So much for giving back.

It took a few days for me to get over this incident. My feelings are hurt, but I am also angry. Why would any year-round resident volunteer at UCO if they know that they might be fired when the snowbirds return? I have worked at volunteer jobs all my life. Having more volunteers than work is a good thing. Couldn't all of the available people be scheduled? A once-per-week slot could be made into a once every other week slot. Two days per week could become one day per week during the winter. Everybody works, no one's feelings are hurt and, most importantly, the work gets done. Next Spring, I expect that UCO will be shorthanded again and put out a call for new volunteers. I will not answer that call. One day, no one will. It's just a matter of time.

Israel-Palestine: The Situation is the Solution.

BY RICHARD HANDELSMAN

to the Palestinian - Israeli problem seem not to realize that the present situation is the solution.

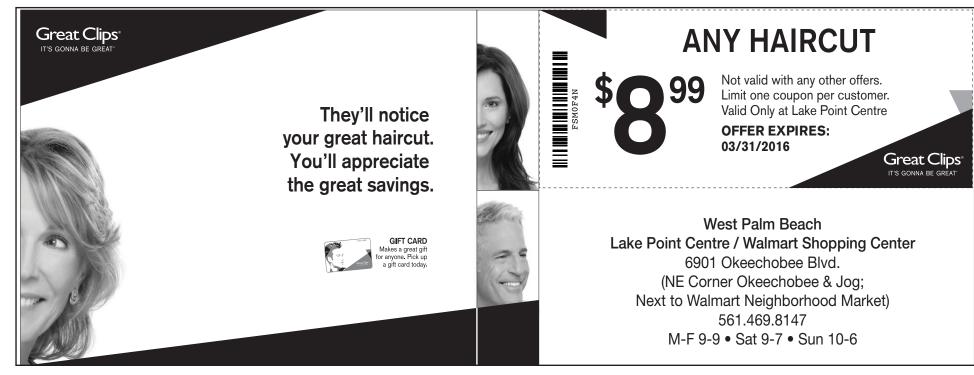

On the one hand, the continual conflict guarantees that the dictatorshipsofthesurroundingArab states--Jordan, Saudi Arabia, Iran, Iraq, etc.--can utilize "the oppression of our brothers, the Palestinians" (who are not allowed to migrate and populate the vast expanses of empty land in those countries*) to demand obedience and sacrifice from their own citizens. As George Orwell wrote in 1984: "The war is not meant to be won, it is meant to be continuous. . . . In principle the war effort is always planned to keep society on the brink of starvation. The war is waged by the ruling group against its own subjects and its object is not the victory . . . but to keep the very structure of society intact." (North Korea also practices

Those who search for a solution this saber-rattling technique.)

On the other hand, the continual conflict guarantees that Israel does not have to address either a onestate solution and give 1.5 million Palestinians citizenship rights (in a land of 8 million)--never! Nor address a two-state solution, then having to deal with the 600 thousand Ultra-Orthodox West Bank settlers, their Biblical claims to all the land, and their Knesset political parties-double never! And the USA is always ready to hand over the usual $3-4 billion a year plus cut-rate arms deals and UN support.

But now, after almost 60 years of posturing and promises, this balance is threatened by the rise of (a) fundamentalist Muslim groups--Al Queda, ISIS, Taliban, Boko Haram, Al-Shabaab, Al-Nusra; (b) Sunni vs. Shi'ite; and (c) Kurdish nationalists.

Dear Residents,

for the closure was ADA related. To NOT provide access for the handicapped is discriminatory, thus the closure. Though the lifts are old and parts for repair difficult to obtain, there is some good news......Florida Lifts was able to get one lift operational allowing WPRF to reopen the second floor to the residents.

Originally WPRF, wanting to improve the ride to the second floor, gathered information for an elevator to replace the two existing lifts. After threats of a lawsuit by certain residents if WPRF moved forward, this idea was dropped. WPRF will now be replacing the old lifts with a newer version of the current lifts. While it was our aim to present three bids to the Bid Committee in December, WPRF was unable to do so based on the slow response from the companies that are bidding.

Once all three bids are in house and reviewed by the Bid Committee, I will There bring their recommendations to the Operations Committee asking for a motion to accept. The lifts will then be ordered and scheduled for install accusations ask quickly as possible.

> Another issue is that of the A/Cin the main Clubhouse. WPRF is constantly assessing and replacing old and worn out parts. In combination with the upgrade of old air handlers and the addition of new valves for better temperature control, we have a software program that allows us to control the temperatures of the A/C equipment via computer. This program also gives WPRF's Maintenance Supervisor the ability to access the A/C system from home nights and weekends. As all of you using the clubhouse are uncomfortably aware, we have lost our ability to control the temperatures at this time. I can assure you we are working diligently with the vendor to get our temperatures back under control.

> Please bring the necessary articles of clothing to keep you warm while playing cards, etc. I assure you I am aware of your complaints and promise you your complaints are NOT falling on deaf ears. I apologize profusely and ask that you bear with us as we work toward resolution, and I thank you for your patience.

Art & Entertainment • Play Review THE HISTORY BOYS AT PALM BEACH DRAMAWORKS

BY IRV RIKON

I've written several columns for the UCO REPORTER on education, and having once been an educator, I looked forward to seeing Alan Bennett's The History Boys at PALM BEACH DRAMAWORKS in downtown West Palm Beach.

The play is set in the mid 1980s at a grammar school (the English equivalent of high school) in the north of England. Eight boys attending their senior year are preparing to take "A-level" exams in their three or four preferred subjects. Their goal is to gain entrance into the top and most prestigious schools such as Oxford and Cambridge.

teachers, Hector (Colin McPhillamy) and Irwin (Cliff Burgess,) whose views on education conflict. The latter "goes by the book," following instructions, to get his charges into University. The former seeks to broaden the boys' minds by "honing intellectual skills and curiosity," as Producing Artistic Director William Hayes phrases it.

The play itself, I feel, doesn't quite make a successful transference from English to American stage. It's long, and it rambles. Playwright Bennett has time to delineate eight young male personalities, but he sketches them rather than drawing and coloring them.

At one point, the subject of the Holocaust comes up, but Mr. Bennett is more interested in intellectual discussion rather than an emotional one.

As characters, the teachers, rather than the boys, are more fleshed out. The two leads, Mr. McPhillamy especially, who has the more demanding role, are outstanding.

Rob Donohoe as Headmaster and Angie Radosh as Mrs. Lintott give the excellent kinds of performances we have come to expect of them.

J. Barry Lewis does his best with a script that is basically static. His people are kept constantly in motion and so are the worthy sets of Victor Becker. Indeed, as always at Palm Beach Dramaworks, the entire technical staff excels.

The boys, all of whom do very well and are new to this theater, deserve mention. I list their names because they should be seen here again and probably will be: Jelani Alladin, Colin Asercion, Kristian Bikic, Kyle Branzel, Mike Magliocca, Matthew Minor, John Evans Reese and Nathan Stark.

The play runs through January 3. The next production, Long Day's Journey into Night, arguably Eugene O'Neill's greatest work, runs January 29 - February 28.

Dramalogue, "A series that explores all aspects of theatre, in conversation with or about the industry's top professionals and master artists." has proven highly successful with fans. This season, it begins December 8 with Paul Gemignani, Theater's Master Maestro. Tommy Tune appears January 1. For reservations and additional information, call 514-4042. Nutrition and Health A Nutritious New Year

JEANIE W. FRIEDMAN, MS RD LD/N

With the new year fast approaching some people resolve to watch what they eat. M a k i n g h e a l t h i e r food choices is not easy.

Supermarkets stock thousands of different food products, making it difficult to navigate your way around the aisles. Grocery stores are not the only place that can cause confusion. In some restaurants, menus can resemble a small book! In a later column, we will discuss how to select healthier choices when dining out. To start eating healthier, like with anything else, you just need to take baby steps.

The typical grocery store carries a large variety of products and each one may have its own variations. For example, ketchup is available in many brands and varieties. In addition to regular ketchup, you can buy ketchup with no added salt or with reduced sugar. Furthermore, you can choose lower carb or ketchup made without high fructose corn syrup.

How would you know which items would be a healthier choice? Most packaged food items have a Nutrition Facts Label, where information like calories, amount of fat, and the amount of sodium for each serving is displayed. The label also lists ingredients in order of quantity from greatest to smallest. Items like fresh vegetables and fruit, do not have a label. Packaged fruit in syrup or juice will have a label that lists calories and the amount of sugar per serving.

The sections in the perimeter of the store (except the bakery!) contain the healthiest food items. The produce, meat and seafood, and dairy departments are located on the outer edges of the store. Here, generally, you will find food in its natural, minimally processed forms. Some meat and seafood items may come prepared and seasoned and sold in the refrigerated cases. These foods will have added sodium and calories or fat. The labels on these will show you just how much of each it contains. With this information, you can compare similar products and make the best choice for your needs.

In the aisles, aim for 100% whole wheat varieties of bread and pasta. Beware of bread and pasta that is just colored brown. The first ingredient listed must be labeled as "whole wheat", "whole grain", etc. otherwise, you are not getting the full benefits of the grain. Refined grains (found in foods like white bread) have been stripped of their bran, which provides most of the fiber, and their germ, which provides healthy fats, vitamins, and minerals. Unprocessed brown rice is higher in fiber than white rice. Watch out for white rice that is colored brown.

If you purchase canned beans and vegetables, look for varieties that are low-sodium or are without added salt. Rinsing the items in a colander for several minutes can remove up to 40% of the sodium used in preparation and canning. Once you get into the habit of reviewing food labels to make healthier choices, you will have made a huge, positive step towards a healthier lifestyle. What a perfect way to start the New Year!

Start the new year at your library where we celebrate public education for all! First, attend a series of gentle yoga classes taught by a certified yoga instructor. Please make sure to wear comfortable clothing and bring your own water bottle and mat. You can then take a class to find out about free online lifelong and continuous learning resources that are available from universities, both nationally and internationally. Join in a discussion of the classic novel "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" by Ken Kesey. Explore Kesey's use of hands, machines, and allusions to Christ to depict a society that, if unopposed, insidiously destroys individuals. Be captivated as "The Presidents and their First Ladies" is back for another showing this year featuring Ronald and Nancy Reagan. Lastly, if you need individualized help with a specific library service, consider our "Booka-Librarian" for one-on-one training. Just call for an appointment!

The Okeechobee Boulevard Branch Library is located next to Dunkin' Donuts. The hours are: Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday from 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m., Thursday and Friday from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., and Saturday from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. All Village residents, including seasonal residents, are eligible for a free library card with proper I.D. Sports of The Century-Village Sam Milham

Hi again everybody, it's great to be back at CV-this time as a yearrounder!

Shame on the NFL—again:

As I reported in my column and on my TV show back in May, fourteen NFL teams charged our government for their patriotism. If you recall, I asked all the good seniors of CV to let their voices be heard on this issue, and it looks as if you did. Many thanks.

Well, Senator John McCain is now looking into this! Did he see my show? His report is called "Tackling for Patriotism."

The fourteen teams, which I called "the Dirty Dozen Plus Two", collected $5.4 million over a fouryear period from the US government for publicly honoring our military personnel during football games. Our government looked at it as an investment because it increased volunteerism, which is a good thing. This is just chump change, though, to any NFL owner. But you know the NFL and its insatiable appetite: If the dollars are there, they take it. Pure greed.

Mr. God-ell, in view of all the bad press the NFL and you had this year, why don't you use your powers to pressure the fourteen team owners to make a donation to the USO of the $5.4 million? So far, no other sports league has charged. Call it a Christmas present to all the brave men and women who put their lives on the line for all of us. That would show the NFL in a far more generous light.

Extra point update:

The Brady appeal for what took place in 2014's Deflategate will go to trial on March 3, 2016! Come on, Commish, let's stop this nonsense. Let's face it-you had your day in court and lost. Let's not drag football through another trial. The game doesn't need it. I wonder, Commish, is this your way of keeping the game in the papers beyond Super Bowl 50? I hope it isn't, but with you, one never knows.

Basketball:

As you know, after Phil Jackson's Knicks finished 17 and 65 last season, I stated I would give him some more time! Glad I did. The Knicks improved on their two weak points, rebounding and driving to the basket. They are now getting fouled more often, which is good. Phil also made a good draft choice in Kristaps Porzingis, a 7-foot 3-inch power forward. Through 20 games his average is 14.1 point per game with 2 blocked shots and 9.4 rebounds per game. Meanwhile, his team is 10 and 10, and it looks as if they may win between 35 and 40 games this year with the playoffs becoming a possibility. This kid—just 20 years old-is a real humble and hard-working ball player. To watch him play is just enjoyable. Let's hope New York doesn't go to his head. If I have any advice for him, it's this: Just know that sometimes the press builds you up to knock you down.

Well, folks, thanks for asking about the Question of the Month. It will return with my next column.

Till then, take two and hit to right! (Not take three, Lanny!)

ACTIVE SHOOTER RESPONSE SEMINAR

in my opinion, had the most recognizable face in sports history.

Yogi, as you know, passed away not too long ago at his New Jersey home at age 91.

Our paths crossed several times on the baseball beat. I found him withdrawn at times and shorter than the 5-8 listed on the back of his baseball cards.

He didn't say all of those "Yogiisms" attributed to him, but he was a very likable fellow. After all, how could you not like a guy that looks like the fellow who works in the stockroom of a big store.

the age of 18 with the Norfolk club in the Yankees minor league chain. In the Navy the next two years where he earned a Purple Heart, Distinguished Unit Citation, two Battle Stars and an European Theatre of Operations ribbon for his participation in the Normandy invasion.

After batting .314 with 15 home runs in only 77 games for Newark in 1946, Berra was given a late season trial with the parent Yankees. He hit .364 in seven big league games and worked with Hall of Fame catcher Bill Dickey to improve his defense.

Yogi went on to have a great baseball life and private life with his beautiful wife Carmen, also from St. Louis, who married him well before he began making big baseball money. Like his fans, she adored him and Yogi considered himself blessed with a great partner.

By the time Yogi's baseball career ended as a player, coach and manager, he collected 21 World Series rings.

His memories include hitting the first pinch hit home run in World Series history in 1947 and catching Don Larsen's only perfect game in World Series history in 1956.

Yogi's big league career as a player spanned from 1946-1965 and Outside of Babe Ruth, Yogi Berra resulted in a .285 career average with 358 home runs in 2,120 regular season games.

> Yogi also played in 15 consecutive All-Star games and managed the Yankees and Mets to a pennant. To me, though, the greatest game Yogi ever caught was on Sunday, June 24, 1962, when he was 37-years-old.

> A crowd of 35,638 paid their way in to Detroit's Tiger Stadium on a beautiful afternoon for the game starting a few minutes after one. The game ended 7 hours later at 8pm in the early minutes of the Ed Sullivan Show.

The Yanks won 9-7 in the 22nd Berra broke into pro ball in 1943 at inning on Jack Reed's two-run home run, the only one he ever hit in the big leagues. Yogi caught all 22 innings and had three hits in 10 trips to the plate.

> Fast forward to Yankee Stadium on July 18, 1999.

> After a 14-year estrangement with Yankees owner George Steinbrenner, Yogi came back to Yankee Stadium and watched a game with former batterymate Don Larsen, who pitched the perfect World Series game in 1956. The Yankees won the game as David Cone pitched baseball's 16th perfect game in its history. It was quite a present for Yankees' manager Joe Torre on his 59th birthday.

> Things happened when Yogi was around.

> I'm glad that I got an autographed ball from Yogi some 30 years ago.

> I'm not glad that I gave it away a few years later. I should have kept it as Yogi was one special character.

CV snowbird Irwin Cohen headed a national baseball publication for five years and worked for a major league team and earned a World Series ring. The author, columnist, public speaker may be reached in his dugout at irdav@sbcglobal.net.

Hi folks, Happy New Year to everyone. Another great meeting was held Tuesday night, December 8th, with Guest Speaker Regional Director Wayne Picone of the Florida Attorney General's Office Senior vs Crime Project. He discussed and answered questions regarding signing contracts and dealing with the I.R.S. in the event you are hacked and your identity is stolen. Many firearms were displayed including an antique 107 year old Iver Johnson Break Top revolver in near perfect condition.

Some very nice door prizes were won and the Raffle for the custom made knife valued at $275.00 was drawn and won by a member present. The next meeting will be held Tuesday 7:00 P.M. January 12, 2016 with scheduled Guest Speaker Palm Beach County Sheriff Ric Bradshaw.

We are very fortunate to have such a wonderfully ambitious group of sailors who are currently repairing our boats. Thanks to Dave Forness and his crew of helpers: Ken Campbell, Bart Snow, Ron Helms, and Keijo Parrika. Without you there would be fewer folks out on the lagoon. Actually, the number of our club's certified sailors is constantly growing. Many newbies have shown up to be tested by either Ryszard Miezianko or Helga Lieb-O'Neill. Remember that even if you've been previously certified, you must do so again each year after October. The dock is open six days a week, with Sunday the exception, using our buddy-system.

We have many upcoming social events. As usual, our potlucks are the first Tuesday of the month with set-

Four of our members are first timers. We still play every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday at 1:30. Check in at 1:15 to sign in so we can determine how many courts are needed. We play singles on Tuesdays, Doubles on Wednesdays and my favorite Bowling Pin on Thursdays. Everyone is welcome to join us. Equipment is provided. There are players of all skill levels. If you are a person who has never played and would like to learn the game, give me a call and someone can meet you a little early and explain the game to you. It is always a good idea to get outside, get a little exercise, and meet some new people. Hope to see you soon.

Tennis and pickleball players will break from their normal activity on January 20 at 9 a.m. to participate in the annual membership breakfast meeting at the Somerset pool patio.

Club treasurer Irma DeMarzo will be on hand to collect the $10 annual dues.

Membership benefits include listing of name, phone, and e-mail address on the posted directory, use of the ball machine, and discounted admission to the spring picnic. Paid-up members will nominate and elect next year's club officers. Les Rivkin, seeking re-election as president, is expected to propose the addition of two vice-presidents, one to represent French Canadian players and the other to oversee pickleball activities.

up at 5:15PM at the Clubhouse pool patio. Our meetings are in Room C on the second Friday at 10AM. A reminder to mark your calendars for the January 14th installation breakfast, luncheon Wednesday, February 17th, and of course, our exceptionally popular dance on Sunday, March 6th, followed by our end-of-season picnic March 23rd. For those of you who haven't yet joined us for the fun, why not come down to check us out at the dock and maybe SAIL AWAY!

Court repairs and possible expansion will also be on the agenda. As of mid-December, WPRF has received a number of bids, but none that it considered satisfactory.

A double elimination mixed doubles tournament is set for January Registration information is 27. posted at the clubhouse.

The women's tournament will take place February 10, and the men's February 24. Pickleball tournament information will be available at or before the membership meeting.

are established. Florida's Constitution mandates that all property must be assessed at market value as of January 1 each year. Sales transactions during the previous year determine values as of January 1 of the current year. For 2016 values, that means we will look at sales during 2015 to estimate values for the 2016 tax roll. For example, if you sold your residence in 2015 for $100,000, that selling price would be used together with other comparable sales in our analysis of the current market.

January 1 also is when existing Homeowner Exemptions are renewed automatically by the Property Appraiser's Office. Some of you may remember the days when you had to come to our offices every year between Jan. 1 and March 1 to renew your existing exemption in person. When Mr. Nikolits took office in 1993, he opted to renew existing homestead exemptions automatically on Jan. 1 each year. Taxpayers have welcomed that convenience ever since.

The renewal cards are mailed to each residential property owner who has an existing homestead exemption. In 2015, the approximate number of exemption renewals was 310,536. The number of new applications taken in 2015 was 24,318, which includes 9,318 applicants who used E-File.

Each year our homestead fraud team investigates and removes exemptions that have been received illegally. In 2015, we recovered $1,674,974 from taxpayers claiming an improper exemption.

Just a reminder that if you did buy a new residence in 2015, now is the time to apply for the 2016 homestead exemption. The deadline to apply is March 1. The 2016 application can be downloaded from our website,

American looking to climb the economic ladder. Yet the cost of attending a four-year public college has tripled in the last three decades, and Americans' incomes have failed to keep up. With over 40 million Americans struggling to pay back more than $1.2 trillion in student loans, the need for Congress to take action is greater than ever.

Back in 2013, I was pleased to vote for the Bipartisan Student Loan Certainty Act, which locked in low interest rates for today's students. However, I remain concerned about the millions of Americans who remain trapped in older, higherinterest loans. That's why I joined Senator Elizabeth Warren earlier this year as a sponsor of the Bank on Students Emergency Refinancing Act, which would give borrowers the chance to take advantage of today's low interest rates. The Congressional Budget Office estimates that this bold legislation could save families up to $70 billion on their student loans. Unfortunately, the proposal has failed to gain any support from the Republican majority in Congress.

We will keep working to get our colleagues on the other side of the aisle on board with a bold student loan refinancing plan. Yet we must also look for other commonsense steps that could better protect the rights of struggling borrowers. That's why I recently introduced three new bills aimed at shielding borrowers from abuse and economic hardship:

The Student Loan Payment Optimization Act requires

lenders to apply payments in ways that maximize your savings instead of your debt. Under current law, when borrowers pay more than their monthly minimum payment, lenders can apply those funds to the issue highlighted earlier this year by the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau. Too often, borrowers are left in the dark when lenders sell their debt to new servicers and even end up incurring fees due to the confusion. When this problem arose in the mortgage industry, Congress amended the Truth in Lending Act to require banks better inform customers. This legislation ensures that student lenders get the same treatment.

The Social Security Garnishment

Modernization Act responds to a growing challenge, and that is the growing number of Americans seeing their Social Security checks garnished to pay off student debt. In fact, the Government Accountability Office found that in 2013, over 150,000 seniors saw their Social Security benefits garnished for this reason. Today, just $750 is exempt from garnishment every month. My legislation increases the amount of Social Security benefits protected from student loan garnishment because the last thing the federal government should be doing is garnishing seniors into poverty.

The skyrocketing cost of higher education in the United States is a strain on Americans of every political persuasion, and protecting borrowers from abuse and economic hardship should be a bipartisan priority in Congress. In the coming months, I hope to build support for these commonsense measures among Republicans and Democrats alike, and will be sure to keep you updated on my efforts.

pertaining to your life in Palm Beach County, whether it be land records or court records. It is my job to protect them from outside sources looking to do harm. Because of this, my office uses the most modern technology to provide secure, direct and easy access to official information online. Although we do our best to redact private information, it is our communal responsibility to make sure sensitive information is not inadvertently released to the public.

There has never been a more important time to monitor private, personal information located in the Official Records that are housed on our website, www.mypalmbeachclerk. com. Here are a few tips to help ensure that your information has been properly protected:

- ◆ Check the "Official Records." Search for your name and check your documents. If you find any of protected information (social security numbers, bank account numbers, military discharges, etc.) you may download a form from our Privacy Web page to request its removal.
- ◆ If you work in a protected profession, such as law enforcement or the military, some personal information can be removed from documents. A list of qualified professions is available on our Privacy Web page.
- Visit one of our offices, where trained employees will show you how to find your documents and request removal of certain personal information.

My office is doing everything possible to make public records access trouble-free while maintaining the integrity of the information held within each document, but we cannot do it alone. Start the New Year off on the right foot by monitoring official online documents.

luck continues to hold. I hope everyone enjoyed the holidays and I would like to wish each of you the very best in the New Year.

The biggest issue facing Palm Beach County and the School District in 2016 is the infrastructure backlog that developed during the longlasting economic recession. We could continue to ignore our infrastructure backlog, but that would only make addressing the issue of road and facility maintenance more expensive in the future.

Board The of County Commissioners directed county staff to specify and document the infrastructure needs. I am sure you heard about the lights that recently fell on the tennis courts. There was no money in the budget for new lights so the lights were removed and the courts are no longer available in the evening. We all know about roads that are in need of repair. Despite the obvious needs, it is still important to specify and document the needs before proposing a tax increase.

Assuming that the county decides to fund the infrastructure backlog, there are two funding options -raising property taxes or raising the sales tax. The county and school district could join together or independently ask the electorate to approve a sales tax increase of $\frac{1}{2}$ cent for the schools and 1/2 cent for the county. The sales tax is a more regressive tax that places a greater burden on our poorest residents, but 25% of the sales taxes are paid by tourists and visitors. A ¹/₂ cent sales tax would generate approximately \$110 million annually.

In the months to come, County staff will provide us with the list of specific infrastructure needs which I will share with you. I believe the County Commission will also create a citizens oversight panel that would ensure that additional property or sales tax revenue will be used specifically and exclusively for infrastructure needs that are on that list. I look forward to getting your input on both our infrastructure needs and possible funding options. Again, I would like to wish each of you the very best in the New Year. Please remember, I am here to help if you need my assistance. I or someone from my office attends every monthly UCO meeting. You may also call to schedule an appointment. If you would like to speak with me personally, want a speaker for a group, or just want to be well informed about important issues facing Palm Beach County please send an E-mail to me at pburdick@pbcgov.org or call 355-2202.

Attention Reclaimed Water Customers

Please take the time to read the following important message regarding your reclaimed water service.

What is reclaimed water?

Reclaimed water is domestic wastewater which has been treated and disinfected to a high degree so it can be safely used to irrigate golf courses and residential lawns. Reclaimed water must meet strict water quality requirements established by the Florida Department of Environmental Protection. Although reclaimed water meets most of the drinking water standards and is safe for human or animal contact, it is not intended for use as drinking water. It's always a good idea to wash hands thoroughly after contact with reclaimed water, especially before preparing or eating food.

Why use reclaimed water?

Using reclaimed water is a simple, low-cost, user-friendly way to help conserve our fresh drinking water supplies.

How is reclaimed water used?

- Irrigate lawns and golf courses.
- Irrigate flower gardens.
- Irrigate trees and shrubs.

What can't you do with reclaimed water?

DO NOT DRINK RECLAIMED WATER.

- Do not connect any pipes to reclaimed water lines.
- Do not use reclaimed water to fill swimming pools, hot tubs, or wading pools.
- Do not use reclaimed water to irrigate edible crops that will not be peeled, skinned, or cooked before being eaten.

If you have questions about the use of reclaimed water in your community or to modify your reclaimed water system, contact Palm Beach County Water Utilities Department at 561-740-4600.

The importance of voting in America cannot be overstated. The right to vote embodies the spirit of American democracy. When we exercise our right to vote, the votes we cast extend far beyond one election. We elect men and women who will make concrete decisions about how our government will

The citizens of Palm Beach County are fortunate to have elected Susan Bucher as their Supervisor of Elections.

Since taking office in 2008, she has run her office with the highest level of professionalism so that we may all be certain that our elections are fair, honest and that the results are accurate.

Born in rural California, Susan moved to Palm Beach County with her husband, a Floridian, in 1985. She took a job working for the Palm Beach County Building Division and then transferred to the Zoning Division where she worked on land development proposals. Her analytical and organizational skills were quickly recognized by the County's Community Redevelopment Agency and she was asked to help redevelop the Westgate/ Belvedere Homes area in WPB. Sadly, that area of the city had been allowed to deteriorate and was close to becoming a slum area. Using her proven community planning skills, Susan instituted a Master Plan that brought a healthy amount of tax money back to the community. In 1992, Susan was asked by State Representative Ed Healey to join his staff in Tallahassee. She served as his Legislative Assistant for 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ years during which time she became expert at reading bills and crafting budgets. Following Mr. Healey's unexpected death in 2000, a special election was called by Governor Jeb Bush. Susan campaigned for the unexpired seat and was elected. And, the voters in Palm Beach County reelected her four more times! She served brilliantly and fearlessly in Tallahassee for eight years where she became the "go to" person when pending legislation needed to be fine tuned and clarified by Democratic legislators. She was always available to her constituency back in the County - never forgetting the needs of those who had elected her.

When she became term limited in 2008, Susan returned to Palm Beach County. It was a natural progression for her to fun for Supervisor of Elections in 2008 as she had been involved in election law while serving in the Legislature.

There are sixtyseven Supervisors of Elections in the state of Florida. Most run for office with a party affiliation but in Palm Beach County, our supervisor runs for a four-year term without declaring a party affiliation. The Supervisor of Elections Office is the smallest Constitutional office in the County (Clerk of the Court, Property Appraiser, Tax Collector, Sheriff's Office, Supervisor of Elections) with only forty full-time employees. Under her leadership, and by using good management skills and innate common sense, in the past 6 ¹/₂ years, $21.6 million dollars of her budget (unspent funds) has been returned to the County.

All Palm Beach County voters should be proud of the stand Susan took in 2012 when Florida's Republican Party began a campaign to purge the voter registration lists. Her office was sent the names of Palm Beach County residents who were included on the statewide list of 182,000 people that the State deemed "ineligible to vote." She quickly realized that the list was based on obsolete data and refused to implement the order to purge. Susan was the only Supervisor of Elections in the entire state of Florida to take a stand against the Republican political machine and its illconceived plan which was introduced just before statewide elections were scheduled. The statewide list was pared down to 192 names before the entire project was scrapped. She never wavered from her core belief that all eligible voters have the right to cast a ballot that will be accurately counted. Supervisor of Elections Susan Bucher is Palm Beach County's "energizer bunny"! She keeps on going. She never slows down. She keeps everyone and everything running smoothly and on time. When her batteries do run low, she admits to walking on the beach and playing in the dirt in her garden. Susan wants to remind everyone that the right to vote is one of the most fundamental liberties we enjoy as Americans. It is also one of our greatest responsibilities. Make freedom count. Register to vote.
